f o r e

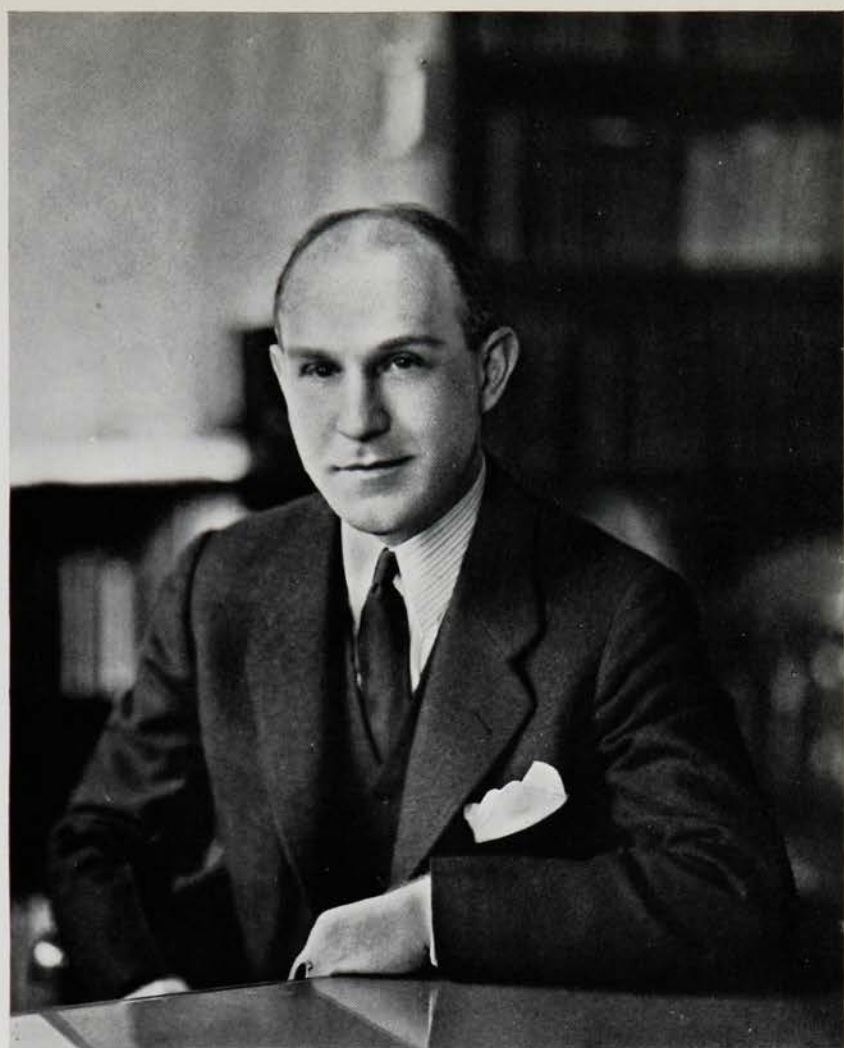

To portray vividly in the following pages every phase of student life and activity for the past year — to treat it in a modern light with a modern decorative 'motif' — to provide a storehouse for the pleasant memories of our youth — these have been the aims of the 1938

Cherry Tree staff.

Dedication

WE dedicate the 1938 volume of The Cherry Tree to Elmer Louis Kayser, Dean of University Students and Marshal of the University. May we by this modest gesture show in some measure our appreciation for his unselfish devotion to the student body in the capacity of friend and counselor.

OFFICERS OF ADMINISTRATION

President Cloyd Heck Marvin has the loyal cooperation of an able corps of assistants in his responsible task of leadership. Charles Wendell Holmes manages the finances of the University; Harold Griffith Sutton and Fred Everett Nessell certify and register the students; Robert Whitney Bolwell supervises the Summer Sessions; John Russell Mason makes literature available to the students; Vinnie Giffen Barrows and Daniel LeRay Borden capably fill their respective positions as Director of Women's Personnel Guidance and Director of Health Administration; and Alan Thomas Deibert advises the students from foreign countries.

The ideals and unfaltering service of our President, together with the Board of Trustees, Officers of Administration, heads of colleges, schools and divisions, and the teaching staff have led to the strengthened standards and improved facilities that have made George Washington a great institution—a university true to the name of George Washington, the first great leader.

ADELAIDE HASSE

ALFRED F. W. SCHMIDT
Director, Division of Library Science

The Division of Library Science was organized in 1927 as a result of the development of courses in the Department of Library Science in Columbian College. It has as its objective the training of library assistants for service in public, college, high school, special, and government libraries.

Library experience is not credited toward graduation, but students with adequate professional experience may be released from the practice work required in connection with classroom instruction.

THE ADVISORY SYSTEM

In order that students may have opportunities not only for assistance in planning their courses of study, but also for personal, educational, and vocational advice in every phase of their academic work during the first two years, a number of members of the faculty serve as advisers to Junior College students. Incoming students are assigned to advisers at the time of registration and are required to consult them at least once each semester. All students, however, are encouraged to consult their advisers about college problems at any time. In this way students lay a stronger foundation upon which to complete the more specialized work which follows.

TO THE GRADUATING CLASS OF THE LAW SCHOOL:

Through the courtesy of the CHERRY TREE editors, I have the privilege of extending to you the greetings and felicitations of the faculty. Its members entertain high hopes for your future, and believe that when you enter the noble profession of the law you will be zealous and faithful, not only in serving the best interests of your clients, but the interests of the public as well. It is only by so doing that you will earn the rewards of a justified self-respect and the regard and esteem of the community in which you may live and serve.

J. WILMER LATIMER, LL.B.

The Law School

The Law School is fully accredited. It is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is approved by the American Bar Association. Since 1926 it has had a chapter of the Order of the Coif, the national law school honor society equivalent to Phi Beta Kappa.

The George Washington Law Review, now in its sixth year, has won wide recognition as a magazine specializing in public law.

The work of the law school is on a strictly graduate basis. Only graduates of approved colleges are admitted. Graduate standards of intellectual achievement are required. A doctor's degree, Juris Doctor, is conferred on those graduates who have demonstrated the highest standards of scholarship and ability to do research on the Law Review board and have laid the foundation for comparative law.

WILLIAM C. VAN VLECK, LL.B.,

THE LAW SCHOOL MAKES HISTORY

Students of The George Washington University Law School have a special interest in the musty volumes of the early United States Supreme Court Reports, for they were reported by William Cranch, Chief Judge of the Circuit Court of the District of Columbia from 1806 to 1855. It was under the instruction of Professor Cranch and Professor William Thomas Carroll, Clerk of the Supreme Court of the United States (1827-'63), that the Law School was first established in 1826.

The law course was discontinued in 1827. When it was resumed in 1865, it acquired the much-coveted distinction of being the first law school established in the District of Columbia, with no competitor until several years later.

Another milestone was passed when graduate work was first offered in 1877. Older graduates remember, too, when the women first made their appearance in 1911.

When the Association of American Law Schools was formed in 1900, the Law School became a charter member and has maintained membership without interruption since that time. The high scholastic requirements of the Law School were recognized by the granting, in 1926, of a chapter of the Order of the Coif, the national legal honor society.

Publication of The George Washington Law Review was started in November, 1932.

Since its beginning the Law School has had many locations. In 1865 it was located on the site now occupied by Columbian Building, on Fifteenth Street, Northwest. It was moved in 1884 to Fifteenth and H Streets, Northwest—where the Woodward Building now stands. Thirty-one years later, in 1915, the location was changed again, this time to the upper floors of the Masonic Temple at Thirteenth and New York Avenue. In 1920 the school was again moved, to the former Department of Justice Building at 1435 K Street, Northwest, where it remained until Stockton Hall, its present home, was occupied five years later.

Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School journeyed to the Capital on November 14, 1925. In the presence of many other dignitaries, he delivered the principal address at the formal dedication of Stockton Hall. The building was named for Rear Admiral Charles Herbert Stockton, who, after his retirement from the United States Navy, accepted the presidency of the University, serving from 1910 to 1918. Among other advantages, the building contains a law library of twenty thousand volumes.

Enrollment has increased steadily, to reach the present figure of over one thousand students.

From time to time the requirements have been raised. In 1865 classes met for one hour three evenings a week and the degree was conferred after two years of study. The undergraduate course was increased to three years in 1898. The movement continued until the Law School became a strictly graduate school in 1937, a degree now being required for admittance.

The Chapter entered into the academic year with a nucleus of twelve members. As a result of its rushing activities, fourteen neophytes were initiated on December 11, 1937, and seven pledges were carried over to the spring initiation. The regular monthly meetings were supplemented by special meetings, formal dances and smokers. During the year several prominent men from Government Departments addressed the Chapter and their guests. During the fall of 1937, the Chapter adopted a revised set of by-laws, setting forth more clearly the purposes of the Fraternity, outlining the functions and duties of the officers and setting up qualifications for membership.

TO THE CLASS OF 1938
SCHOOL OF MEDICINE
The George Washington University

Fellow Students:

For some time I have been thinking of a subject to write to you about on this page of THE CHERRY TREE. As in previous letters to graduating classes from the School of Medicine, I feel that what is said here should be of some significance. In past years I have emphasized opportunities for service, for the cultural things outside the field of medicine, the high ideals of the medical profession—integrity, honesty—and have urged our graduates in medicine to make some contribution to the scientific knowledge of the profession. Other subjects have also been discussed on this page.

To you graduates of 1938 I wish to present a subject, or rather a concept, concerning the physician in the national scheme of things, particularly for the future. During your four years in the School of Medicine you have heard much regarding medical service for the people of this Nation. At times names have been applied to this subject which, to most of us in the profession, are as an anathema. It may be safely predicted that you younger physicians will hear more of these terms and their philosophy in the future. Probably you will have to make some decisions with regard to the future of medicine in this Nation. As you view the problems involved, we hope that you will approach them with an open mind just as you have been taught to do in the experimental approach to problems in biochemistry, physiology, bacteriology, and other sciences in your medical course. You would not merely look at a patient and decide upon the diagnosis without taking a history and doing a complete physical examination. In addition you might wish certain laboratory data to correlate with this examination. Only then would you be willing to give an opinion concerning the diagnosis of his ailment and to recommend treatment. This is the scientific method of approach, and all of your medical training has been based upon it. And so it is with this National problem which faces the medical profession today. As in the diagnosis of disease, you should not be willing to accept what other people say without examining the evidence yourself. Certainly you would not dare to suggest "therapy" unless you know all you can learn concerning the problem presented.

If the foregoing is reasonable and logical, then, as a medical economist or sociologist, you will maintain an open mind in the face of the "signs" and "symptoms" of the "patient," and starting without bias or prejudice you will proceed to take a "history" and make a thorough examination of the "patient" (in this case the problem of medical care). Having done this you will come to a conclusion and decide for yourself what you think is the solution of the problem.

The thought I am leading up to is this: Think for yourself! But in doing so be as intelligent about it as is possible. Nothing is to be gained in blindly following anybody in anything. In doing this one often follows false ideals. No individual has a monopoly on thinking, and no individual has the last word on anything. Modern leaders in all walks of life, in the face of the world's knowledge, are at best rather insignificant and self-limited. Rarely does a truly gifted leader appear in any field, and often we do not recognize him as such until long after he is dead.

There is a growing feeling in this country that the individual is entitled to the pursuit of health and happiness. We have heard a great deal about the external defense of the nation, and huge sums of money have been appropriated for it. Only now are we beginning to hear about the internal defense of the country against the natural enemies of disease, poverty and ignorance. Great appropriations of funds have already been made for the purpose of social security, and larger ones will probably be made in the future. Some of these will be made for health. This is where you come into the problem. If you are wise, generous, open-minded and scientific in your thinking of this problem, you can make sure that whatever is done will be for the best interests of the people and for the professional service which you devote to them as physicians. This is your responsibility. If you always keep in mind that sickness does not exist for the doctor but that the physician exists because of illness, and if you apply the scientific methods of thinking to the problem as you have been trained to do in our profession, then you should solve this question rightly and justly.

Your Faculty joins me in extending to you our congratulations and all of our good wishes for a most successful future as Doctors of Medicine.

EARL BALDWIN MCKINLEY, M.D.,
Dean

MEDICAL

The Drama Unfolds:

The past four years may well be likened to a great play in the making. Such dramas do not often include so many themes, widely diversified, yet held together by a common bond. This bond is so strong that we have given up many years of youthful freedom to accomplish our ideals. In reviewing the strenuous years of our medical preparation we cannot help but recall many interesting hours, some amusing, some enlightening, some filled with conflicts and some spent within the confines of our inner selves.

The opening lines of the first act were short, perhaps a bit shocking, as they brought us to a stern reality. "Dr. Jenkins will meet the Freshman Class at one o'clock in the anatomy laboratory, top floor, other classes will meet tomorrow." At one o'clock "Pop" sent us scurrying out to get the latest "bibles," tossed to each student a clavicle with the nonchalance of a zoo keeper tossing fish to seals, and then the mad rush was on. Days passed very slowly and the gruelling routine and monotony were such that many of us would have forsaken medicine for other fields of endeavor had it not been for the kindly counsel of Dr. Jenkins, whose scholarly teaching and philosophical advice did much to carry us through many trying periods of indecision. Each day now was a rehearsal; quizzes in the morning in history, embryology and neuro-anatomy, quizzes in the afternoon in anatomy. We were learning our lines well but we lacked confidence. However, surprisingly few of us became lost in the maze of intricacies of the human body.

The scene changed rapidly and we ventured from the haven of inexperienced Freshmen to other floors of our playhouse to learn new lines for Act I, Scene II. There were many new lines to learn in bacteriology, biochemistry, and physiology with its maze of circles and plus-minuses. Then a glimpse of the third and fourth acts to stir up our interest and keep up our spirits at the medical and surgical clinics—remember the jaundiced man. The fellow actors in our drama had by this time become familiar to each of us and, according to precedent, the lordly Sophomore class officers advised, in no uncertain terms, that the class should be organized. Bill Manning was elected president and ably acted as our spokesman for Act I. The curtain fell quickly on the first act with many more written examinations than most of us thought we could ever survive.

The second act moved quickly with physiology presented before large smoked drums, frogs, turtles, cats, dogs and weird apparatus over which many patient hours were spent. Dr. Choisser's excellent course in pathology was a bright spot which we remember well. In Dr. DuVigneaud's "lab" the gag reflex was well demonstrated as we attempted to swallow innocent looking stomach tubes. Dr. Roth led us through the numerous problems of pharmacology in a well systematized lab course and introduced us to the art of prescription writing which so characteristically identified the older school of practitioners. Hall C was an interesting spot when Dr. Conklin showed us, very successfully, too, how little we knew about physical diagnosis and the founders of the art. The honor of acting as president of this class went to Wolcott Etienne in the second act.

The third act curtain rose on an entirely new and, we must say, welcome setting. Here we saw dispensary benches and waiting patients. In the examination booths we became "doctors" and began to learn the true art of medicine. Lectures in medicine, surgery, "ob," "gym," dermatology and other subjects, you well recall, kept us busy indeed taking notes. "Derm." brings to mind Luden's cough drops. Dr. Simpson's reception for the class at his home was a very pleasant interlude. Our president this year was Louis Mendel. The third act drew to a close as many of us sought out small parts to play during the summer months, from Mayo clinic to camp doctors.

Act IV was opened and senior year began as our actors and actresses gathered for the last time. We now actually felt that we knew a great deal more than any of the poor underclassmen and perhaps we could not help showing it. Sam Sugar was elected to carry on as president. We were now permitted on the wards and assigned to cases. The importance of this year was immediately apparent because many decisions affecting our future course in the field of medicine had to be made. We pondered over selecting specialties in order that we might more intelligently choose internships which would afford suitable training in them. By late November most of our applications had been submitted to the various hospitals. Interminable days of suspense and anxiety followed. Eventually, however, a long face or a beaming countenance, as the case might be, indicated the reception of a letter or telegram.

These past four acts have probably been the most illuminating and the most informative in the realm of human experience, and the effort, though great, is justified by the satisfaction of attainment which promises a fruitful reward. As we depart it is with great pleasure that we extend our deep appreciation to those whose suggestions, kindly counsel and experienced teachings have carefully guided us through the important years of our training. To them we owe a sincere debt of gratitude.

This year as in the past, we again continued our annual series of lectures, designed to foster and spread that scientific spirit of investigation that motivated the lives of the pioneer investigators, from whom we take our name.

The annual symposium was held on December 21, at the Medical School. The annual banquet, at which time the new members were inducted, was held at the Kennedy-Warren Hotel on November 22.

The newly-formed A. F. A. King Obstetrical Society was organized for the purpose of presenting to the student body of the Medical School a discussion group in the field of Obstetrics and Gynecology and to honor the name of Dr. King, former Professor of Obstetrics. Membership is limited to the fifteen highest ranking students in Obstetrics and Gynecology in the junior and senior classes.

The highlight in the educational program of the organization was the presentation of a symposium on Obstetrics at the sixth annual Post-Graduate Clinic of the Medical School held on February 18-19, 1938. The program included the presentation of papers by three guest speakers, leaders in the field of Obstetrics and Gynecology in this country, followed by a round table discussion of the papers presented.

The year was one of much extra-curricular activity. Medical clinics, seminars, lectures, and motion pictures, attended by the student members, neophytes, and alumni, were conducted by members of the Medical School faculty, chapter alumni, and guest speakers of note. Several dances and parties lent social brightness to the year's activities. An unusually large number of the neophyte group were initiated at the District Convention held in Washington, D. C.

The Society planned this year to have one speaker a month, but in view of the many society meetings, especially on Thursday nights, some of the speakers failed to attend. Last semester we had as a result only one speaker, a representative from the Department of Justice. His subject was "Criminal Psychology." On March 6, a tour was conducted through St. Elizabeth's Hospital. On this tour the group was shown the different wards and therapeutic measures used in the treatment of psychiatric patients.

Two highlights in the Delts' year have been the winning of the Interfraternity Basketball Championship, and the revival of what for years was universally conceded to be the best party given by a campus organization—the Delt Tacky Party. This affair, held at the Hayloft Club this year, was dropped for several years but has been revived again by a resurgent chapter to resume its place among the Bal Bohemes, Heart Balls and other well known dances sponsored by the Greeks on campus. Several other notable parties were held this year, particularly the Fall Strawride and the Halloween and New Year's Dances.

During the Fall of 1937-38 Sigma Phi Epsilon held its National Convention at Cleveland, Ohio. Our social events for the year included our traditional "Heart Ball," which was held on February 19, our Spring Formal on June 9, and a Tea-Reception in the fall when we presented our housemother to the university populace. Other social events were our second annual Sport Dance, Christmas Formal, New Year's Eve Cabaret Party, and breakfast after the Interfraternity Prom. Sigma Phi Epsilon was runner-up in Interfraternity bowling and table tennis tournaments last year.

Alpha Chapter, the mother of Phi Alpha, had another very successful year. A Pledge Dance was given at the opening of the school term, followed by a tacky party and a formal on December 4. Under the guidance of Morris Shapiro, the chapter went to Pittsburgh for the annual convention over New Year's where Joseph Danzansky of Alpha was elected Supreme Grand Regent. The traditional Alpha-Gamma Reunion was held in April.

Though not one of the largest fraternities on the campus, "Phiep" is among the most active. Jay Samuel is chief of the Service Party, member of O. D. K. and Steel Gauntlet. Al Rothenberg received the outstanding Sophomore award and was varsity football manager of the 1937 team. Irwin Nathanson was President of the Freshman Club for the first semester of 1937-38. Jack Shulman is on the senior staff of the Hatchet and Publicity Director of the Buff and Blue Room. Malcolm Mintz is a member of the varsity tennis team.

The chapter has maintained a high scholastic rating during its seven years on the campus, twice winning first place among fraternities on the campus.

This year we have entertained the actives, pledges, alumnae and friends at several parties and dances. Last October we had the pleasure of entertaining our Grand Councilor when she visited Washington. Barbara Harmon was one of the students at George Washington University in "Who's Who in American Colleges." We sent gifts to the Maine Seacoast Mission at Christmas time and contributed to the University Food Drive.

During the year, Alpha Pi has been visited by Beta Province President, Jane Steele Hannon, and by the Grand Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Harris, Jr. The fall Pledge Dance at Wardman Park featured the presentation of the pledges through six-foot A D Pi letters, while the Sweetheart Song was being played. Marty Colmetz was a member of the court of the Campus Queen. The Christmas season was enlivened by a dance also held at the Wardman Park. To celebrate February 22, the customary tea dance was given. There were numerous exchange dinners throughout the year. A Spring Formal closed our activities.

Alpha Delta was given the award for selling the most cherry blossoms in the annual Masonic Clubs' drive, and also received the Bowling Cup last April.

This year Eleanor Livingston has maintained the presidency of Pan-Hellenic Council. Presentation of our pledges took place at the annual Pledge Prom held at the Wardman Park Hotel November 17, and was followed by our Christmas Formal December 10. Outstanding among the functions at which the chapter entertained was the tea given by the pledges in November, open houses held by members during Christmas vacation, and informal dinners and radio dances held in the sorority rooms. Our Spring Formal took place May 11 at the Lafayette Hotel.

Activity for the 1937-38 program included meetings at which many notable speakers, among them Dr. Paul Poponoe, Dr. Carl Taylor, and Dr. Arthur Wright, were presented. The most effective work of the Society was sponsorship, in collaboration with the University Hatchet and the Smith-Reed-Russell Medical Society, of the exhibit in the Student Club and the mass meeting on the problem of syphilis, which featured a notable panel of speakers. The Society followed this by assisting in the formation of the Washington Youth Social Hygiene Council and in arranging for free Wasserman tests for George Washington students. Other activities included the Christmas party at the home of Dr. Wells, the annual banquet and the spring picnic.

On February 22, 1938, a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was installed at the University by Frank Pierrepont Graves, President of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, and William Allison Shimer, Secretary of the United Chapters. This advancement, long sought by George Washington and other local institutions, is a recognition of the high standards of the University. Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest of the Greek letter societies, requiring for membership not only high scholarship, but character, a true love of learning, and the promise of valuable contributions to society.

The membership of Chi Upsilon is composed of students who have completed at least fifteen semester hours of geology with an average of B or over. The purpose of the sorority is to aid and encourage students of geology in their work and to continue and promote friendly relationships among the women interested in geology after they have left the University.

An anniversary dinner in June, 1937, at the Anchorage celebrated six years' activity of the Epsilon Chapter of Chi Upsilon. In February a valentine party was given and thirteen students from the University were entertained by Dan Cupid and humorously tested on their knowledge of geology. Business meetings are held once a month during the school year and are followed by a social hour and refreshments.

The sorority sponsors lectures at the University of geology or on allied sciences, to which all students interested in geology are invited, and has field trips and picnics for the purpose of hunting fossils.

The members of the sorority were invited to attend the luncheon at the American Association of University Women's Clubs given for the ladies who attended the convention of the Geological Society of America, held in Washington, D. C., the last week in December, 1937. Miss Florence Bascom, dean of women geologists as a profession, was the principal speaker. Members were also privileged to attend the reception at the White House, the reception at the Mexican Embassy and the Pick and Hammer show, "I'd Rather Be Bright," staged by the Geological Society of Washington for the entertainment of those attending the convention.

A professional fraternity in commerce, Alpha Kappa Psi holds open meetings on the first and third Wednesdays of each month, alternating between invited speakers and round table discussions. The purpose of the professional program is to make available to the student practical information in the fields of business administration, accounting, finance, and economics. During the current year, the local chapter has received high commendation from national headquarters because of the consistently brilliant meetings which it has held since its organization.

Founded in 1894 under the leadership of Miss Mary Charlotte Priest, A.B. 1893, A.M. 1901, Columbian Women is the largest and most active women's organization in the George Washington University. The advancement of women in educational work has been for many years one of the principal objectives of the Columbian Women. A substantial scholarship fund has been built up from life membership dues and a large number of scholarships have been granted to women students in the University. The organization has always maintained close contact with the University Administration and gives its full support to the promotion of all interests of the University.

The following are eligible for active membership: Any woman who for one year has been a regularly registered student in the University, provided she shall have received credit for thirty hours of work; any woman member of the Faculties, Council, or Board of Trustees; any woman on the Administrative Staff; the wife or recognized head of the household of any member of the Faculties, Council, Board of Trustees, or the Administrative Staff; and any woman recipient of an honorary degree from the University.

Graduate women students and wives of graduate men students are eligible for associate membership, having all privileges and obligations of membership except those of voting and holding office.

THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

To the Class of 1938, the General Alumni Association extends greetings and a warm invitation to join in the work of the Association for the future of the University and the strengthening of personal ties among its graduates. A continuing interest in the University should be a part of the heritage of every graduate, and the alumni organizations are the channels which give direction and expression to this interest. They are a means through which alumni and ex-students may join in extending and increasing the investment which their years at the University have given them.

ALUMNI CLUBS located in various government departments and in cities throughout the country and abroad, afford the graduate direct contact with other alumni and are often of personal benefit to the young alumnus establishing himself in a new location.

PROFESSIONAL GROUPS—Law, Medicine, Library Science, Engineering—tend to bring together members of the same profession with resulting benefit to the professional schools of the University and to themselves.

The Engineers' Council is an organization of eleven students consisting of two delegates chosen from the five Engineering societies and fraternities, the A. S. M. E., the A. S. C. E., the A. I. E. E., Theta Tau and Sigma Tau, and the Engineering representative to the Student Council. It was organized in 1932 to act as a governing and coordinating body to the students of the Engineering School. To this end the Engineers' Council sponsors three social functions each year: The Engineers' Mixer in the Fall, the Engineers' Ball during the Winter, and the Engineers' Banquet in the Spring.

W. HAYES YEAGER	Faculty Adviser

With the opening of the first term Edward Stevlingson was still president of the organization, with Sue Slater acting as secretary. By the close of the term these two felt the need of new blood in the club and resigned in favor of John Kendrick and Jane McGraw.

There has been a complete reorganization of the club this year and though major productions were dispensed with for the spring term, with new life injected into its Board Cue and Curtain will soon be beyond any heights ever before attained.

George Washington University's only dramatic club, Cue and Curtain, opened its 1937-38 season with very high hopes of making it a banner year and one unequaled in the past. The fall production, staged December 3 and 4 in Wardman Park Theater, under the direction of Marvin Beers, while not very well attended by the student body, was nevertheless a fine attempt toward real dramatic art. Critics in the local papers gave the club many complimentary remarks in their reviews.

The play, by Lennox Robinson, centered around the pampered youngest son of Mrs. Geoghegan, Dennis, whose every act of life was decided for him by his family. He was destined "by fate" to be a medic and was sent up to Dublin for the necessary preparation.

While in school, "the whiteheaded boy," who was draining the family coffers, paid little or no attention to his objective and repeatedly failed his medical board examinations. The sacrifices made by the other members of the family in order to keep him in school were just about exhausted and unending difficulties arose.

Finally Dennis decided he should take his future in his own hands and have no more of the family dictators. His decision led to further complications with his fiancée and her father.

As a result of the pressure brought to bear on him he eloped with Delia and took a job working on the roads. At last on his own, he dismissed his past life of "drudgery" from his mind and looked happily into the future with his bride.

The purpose of the Colonial Campus Club is to create a greater spirit of friendship and cooperation among women students who are not affiliated with any social Greek-letter sorority. It gives them an opportunity to participate in intramurals and other campus activities in which they could not otherwise be included. The Club has two business meetings and two social meetings every month. In the past year, social activities have included theater parties, club suppers, bicycle rides and Halloween and Christmas parties.

The Baptist Student Union is the connecting link between the campus and the local Baptist churches. Through a cooperative program emphasizing the religious, educational, and social values, the organization seeks to enlist Baptist students into fellowship with all denominational enterprises both at home and abroad. Through a program of Christian friendliness which includes the observance of International Student Day and the Annual International Student Banquet, the Baptist Student Union promotes a spirit of good-will and mutual understanding among the many nationalities represented on the campus.

The Newman Club is a Catholic organization having for its primary purpose the dissemination of Catholic culture and fellowship. Educational topics are presented at meetings by prominent members of the Catholic clergy and laity. In addition, the Club held a reception for all Catholic students in October and Communion breakfasts in January and May. Newmanism is international in scope.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

"Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding." Proverbs 4:7.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, provided in the Manual of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, that students and faculty members in colleges and universities may form Christian Science Organizations, if the rules of the university permit. The Christian Science Organization at The George Washington University, founded in the fall of 1931, is one of sixty-one similar organizations located throughout the world and established under this provision. The purpose of the Organization is to aid University students in obtaining a more comprehensive understanding of education and service, a greater spiritual development and a life consecrated through the study and application of this Science in all branches of University activities.

Regular meetings are held at 8:10 P.M., in Columbian House, the first and third Thursdays of each month during the school year. The annual reception to which all students and faculty members interested in Christian Science are invited, was held in November. Major Charles Christenbury, formerly one of the faculty at Columbia University, spoke on the application of Christian Science to university life. Mr. Gavin W. Allan, C.S.B., member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, delivered a lecture entitled "Christian Science—The Science of Government," on February 11, 1938, in Corcoran Hall.

There are available in the University library authorized books and periodicals on Christian Science including the international daily newspaper—The Christian Science Monitor.

The organization of Le Cercle Francais Universitaire was motivated by the interest in French literature, life and language on the part of students and their professors. It had its beginning about eight years ago with informal luncheons. The activities this year have comprised guest speakers, short French plays rendered by the members, French games and banquets.

MEN'S DEBATE

A very successful innovation this year of the Varsity Debate Team was the Intercollegiate Debate Symposium held on March 25 at George Washington. Senator Elbert D. Thomas presided. Teams from Cornell, Puerto Rico, Virginia, and George Washington debated the question of "American Foreign Policy with Respect to Neutrality and War." Audience questioning and discussion followed the speaking.

Other outstanding debates were those held with the English team from Oxford and Cambridge, and the teams from the University of Melbourne and the University of Pennsylvania.

Two radio debates were given with the Columbian University team over station WNCA in New York City and with the Swarthmore College team over station WIP in Philadelphia.

An unusual honor for the team was the publishing of the Princeton Debate in "The University Debaters Annual for 1938-39" and of the Debate Symposium, in full, in the "Yearbook of College Debating for 1938-39."

Members of the debate team were: George Pughe, John Dootson, Wayne Kniffen, John Southmayd, George Sheya, Wendell Anderson, and Charles Corker.

WOMEN'S DEBATE

Several trips were taken this year by the Women's Debate Team—one to the Model Senate at Colgate University where Betty Green was elected president of the Senate for next year, and one to Randolph-Macon.

Besides these debates other opponents included teams from Pittsburgh, Columbus, West Virginia and Maryland Universities and Trinity and William Jewell Colleges.

Members of the debate team were: Evelyn Morris, Betty Green, Dorothy Ames, Mildred Vierling, Marjorie Lipske, Mary Norman West, and Phoebe Beall. The question used was: Resolved that the National Labor Relations Board Should Be Empowered to Enforce Arbitration of All Industrial Disputes.

FRESHMAN DEBATE

Important debates for the Freshman Debate Team included those against Western High School, American University, and the Y. M. C. A.

Freshmen who participated in the debates were: Royce Lowry, Elsie Carper, Irwin Nathanson, Michael McKool, James Klaassi, Irma Naiman, and Florence Haves.

Effective next year will be the new student debating organizations which will work with the Public Speaking Department through the student managers of Men's, Women's, and Freshman Debate.

The Cherry Tree

In 1891 the first yearbook published by the students of George Washington University, at that time Columbian College, was titled, "The Columbian." This publication was a small booklet of only sixty-six pages.

However, it grew steadily in size and improvement until in 1905 it had become an imposing leather-bound volume of 360 pages called "The Mall." Three years later it assumed its present name of "The Cherry Tree."

Successive staffs of "The Cherry Tree" have attempted to make it an interesting and reliable chronicle of the student life and activities at the University. The book is distributed the first week in May.

The University Hatchet

During 1937-38 The Hatchet stepped far from its exclusive field of journalism into fields of literary, symphonic, photographic, and medical endeavor, while at the same time taking the first steps toward development of a "modern newspaper" and playing host to representatives of some 36 college newspapers at the annual spring convention of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association.

Extra-journalistically, The Hatchet's work included presentation, in cooperation with the Symphony Club, of a series of summer symphonic programs known as the "Yard Concerts" which drew a large portion of the Summer Sessions students into attendance; publication twice during the fall semester, in cooperation with the Literary Club, of a page of literary and critical contributions under the title of "First Editions;" formation of the photographic club, Lens and Shutter, and sponsorship of its first contest and exhibition; co-sponsorship with the Student Council of the annual Christmas Food Drive; inauguration of a national college campaign against syphilis as the result of a successful campaign conducted here by The Hatchet, the Lester F. Ward Sociological Society, and the Smith-Reed-Russell Medical Society.

The editorial page cup of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association was won for the third consecutive time.

The Student Handbook is distributed to all students at the opening of school in September, the work being compiled during the summer months. Last year there was an index of names and a new type of binding in addition to the regular features always presented. It contains, in a book that easily fits into a pocket or a purse, a short, accurate analysis of everything that occurs at the University.

BUFF AND BLUE ROOM

The Student Club, transformed in a few hours from its drab every-day appearance into a supper-dancing club, was the scene of the opening of the "Buff and Blue Room" on October 15. Soft blue lights, a good swing band under the direction of Bill McCallum, clever murals by Jack Shulman, spotless white tablecloths, and uniformed waiters provided the proper atmosphere.

An all-student review, featuring dramatic skits, crooners, and tap dancers, was the climax of one of the most important social events of the year. The review was directed by Leonard Lieberman, production manager. Jay Samuel was director of the venture, and Vincent De Anglis served as manager.

The opening of the "Buff and Blue Room" set a precedent in the entertainment field and attracted nation-wide attention. The function was sponsored by the Student Club and the Student Council, and repeated its initial success on numerous other evenings during the year.

HOMECOMING BALL

Hundreds of students and alumni danced at the Homecoming Ball, held at the Willard Hotel on Saturday, October 13, to celebrate the fifth annual Homecoming Week of the University. Carlton Edwards' 12-piece orchestra furnished the music.

Colored spotlights flickered through the crowd or focused attention on the fraternity and sorority banners which decorated the ballroom.

During the evening a new University song, "The G. W. Swing," written by Chet Hogentogler, was introduced and achieved instant popularity. At intermission a cup for the most cleverly decorated house on campus was presented to Kappa Sigma Fraternity by Betty Hutto, University Sweetheart.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance, headed by President and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, included many prominent diplomats, alumni, and University officials. Lester Smith, alumni secretary, was in charge of arrangements for the dance.

HOWARD MACE

ALL-UNIVERSITY PROM

Inaugurating a new note in University social life, the student Council sponsored an All-University Prom at the Willard Hotel on December 17. Joe Haymes, nationally known recording artist, was featured, with Honey Burns, vocalist.

The Presidents of all campus organizations participated in the Grand March, led by Betty Hutto, University Sweetheart, and Austin Beall.

Many outstanding campus leaders and their dates were singled out by the spotlight. Thirteen of the prominent activity men were tapped by O. D. K., honorary activities fraternity.

The dance, under the supervision of Howard Mace, Social Chairman of the Student Council, and Jack Shulman, was unusual in that it afforded an opportunity for all University students to gather together at a major social function.

BILL WRIGHT

INTERFRATERNITY PLEDGE PROM

An important evening in the life of every pledge was the 1938 Interfraternity Pledge Prom, held at the Raleigh Hotel on January 18. In spite of impending final examinations, many fraternity men and their dates took advantage of the delightful "swing" tunes provided by the Baltimore Townsmen.

Justina Brown, escorted by Cal Courtney, president of the Interfraternity Pledge Council, and Jule Wilson, who accompanied Bill Wright, social chairman of the Council, led the grand march. Pledge delegates who took part in the grand march presented orchids to their dates as it began.

An "interfraternity no-break dance" was a feature of the evening. As each fraternity song was played only members of the designated fraternity and their dates participated. Another ever-popular feature was a "spot-dance," which was won by Jane Fleig and Tom Britt.

Decorated appropriately with fraternity and sorority banners, the tenth-floor ballroom was a colorful setting for one of the most successful dances of the year.

PEGGY McMILLAN

JUNIOR PAN-HELLENIC PROM

The Kennedy-Warren Hotel on February 11 was the scene of a history-making event when the Junior Pan-Hellenic Association sponsored a formal dance for the first time in recent years.

Syncopation was provided by Carlton Edwards and his band of University men. Sorority banners were selected as the only decorations. Peggy McMillan was in charge of arrangements for the Prom and was assisted by Jule Wilson and Florence Haves.

The grand march included the presidents of sorority pledge groups and delegates to the Junior Pan-Hellenic Association, and was led by Nancy Gatch, president of the Association, and Peggy McMillan, social chairman, and their dates.

A "spot-dance" was won by Patsy Mayfield and Don Wilburn. Corsages of roses, orchids, and gardenias completed the requirements for a really successful evening.

JACK BEANE

ENGINEERS' BALL

The annual Engineers' Ball was held on February 19 at the ballroom of the Kennedy-Warren Hotel. The music for the evening was provided by Dave McWilliams and his orchestra.

A large number of alumni were present for the occasion. Dean Lapham and Professor Ames were among the patrons.

The usual grand march was replaced by a floor show, featuring Bob Mahoney of the Patsy Kelly Studio. The orchestra entertained with a number of Hawaiian selections.

The dance was sponsored by the Engineers' Council, and was under the supervision of Jack Beane, social chairman.

HOWARD WALKINGSTICK

INTERFRATERNITY PROM

Shadows cast by multi-colored reflections from a revolving crystal ball, snatches from well-known fraternity songs, and Russ Morgan's music all mingle pleasantly in the memories of the 1938 Interfraternity Prom held on March 4 from 10 to 2 at the Willard Hotel.

Each fraternity was assigned a box decorated with its banner. The grand march, in which each president, social chairman, and council delegate participated, was led by Cap Gardner, president of the Interfraternity Council, and Miss Sue Fisher; and Howard Walkingstick, social chairman, and Miss Wanda Sarnecki.

During intermission cups were awarded to the winners of intramural sports and to Tommy O'Brien, winner of the Gate and Key cup for the most outstanding University basketball player. Jack Brown received the bowling sweepstakes cup.

Twenty-five outstanding fraternity leaders were tapped by Gate and Key, honorary organization for fraternity men. Among the patrons and patronesses for the evening were President and Mrs. Cloyd H. Marvin, Dr. and Mrs. Steuart H. Britt, Dean and Mrs. Elmer Louis Kayser, Dr. and Mrs. Wood Gray, and Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Bennett.

JANE SÆGMULLER

PAN-HELLENIC PROM

Formally opening the spring season, the Pan-Hellenic Prom was held on April 6, at the Willard Hotel. Don Bestor and his famous orchestra, featuring Neil Buckley, supplied the music.

At midnight Eleanor Livingston, past president of the Pan-Hellenic Council and Jane Saegmuller, social chairman, with their escorts led the grand march, which closely resembled a spring fashion parade. The presidents, pledge presidents, and Pan-Hellenic delegates of all sororities participated.

Cups were presented to the winners of intramural contests between sororities by Mary Jane Livingston, president of the Pan-Hellenic Council. During the evening eight girls were tapped by Delphi, honorary activities sorority.

Dean and Mrs. Robert Whitney Bolwell, Dr. and Mrs. Wood Gray, Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Bennett, and Mr. and Mrs. Newton E. Buckley acted as chaperones for the evening.

On Friday, February 25, the Freshman and Sophomore Clubs and the Junior Council sponsored the first closed class prom to be given at the University since the class organizations were discontinued in 1935.

Music was provided by Carlton Edwards and his orchestra in the Rose Room of the Washington Hotel. The climax of the evening was the presentation of awards to the four outstanding members of the Sophomore Class. Mary Lou Nash, Julia Evans, Howard Mace, and Allan Rothenberg were selected by the faculty members of the Student Life Committee to receive the awards.

Irwin Nathanson was in charge of arrangements for the Prom, the success of which will undoubtedly lead to future class dances.

FRESHMAN MIXERS

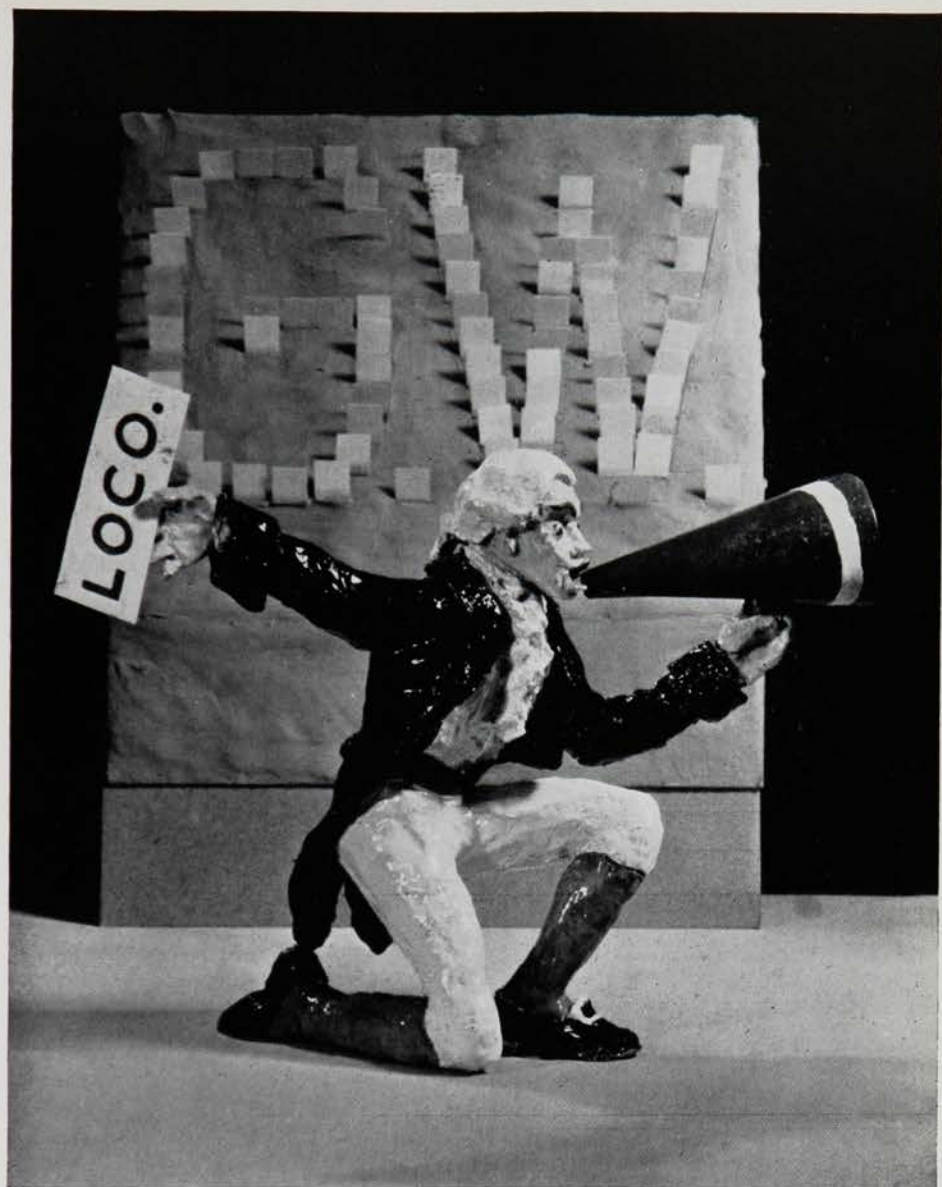

Incoming Freshmen were well entertained at two Freshman Mixers sponsored by the Sophomore Club and the Junior College Council. The dance given by the Sophomores was held on Tuesday, September 21, in the Student Club.

New students wore tags bearing their names. Outstanding activity leaders and many faculty members were introduced during the evening. President Cloyd H. Marvin welcomed the Freshmen.

The annual Freshman Mixer sponsored by the Junior College Council was held on October 8, from 10:30 to 1:30 in the Student Club, following the West Virginia football game. Paper footballs bearing the names of varsity football players decorated the room.

Representatives of activities served as a floor committee to see that the new students became acquainted with their fellow classmates and upper classmen and enjoyed their first all-university social function.

The Coaching Staff

Headed by Athletic Director James Pixlee, the coaching staff of the University boasts a personnel equal to that of the leading universities in the East.

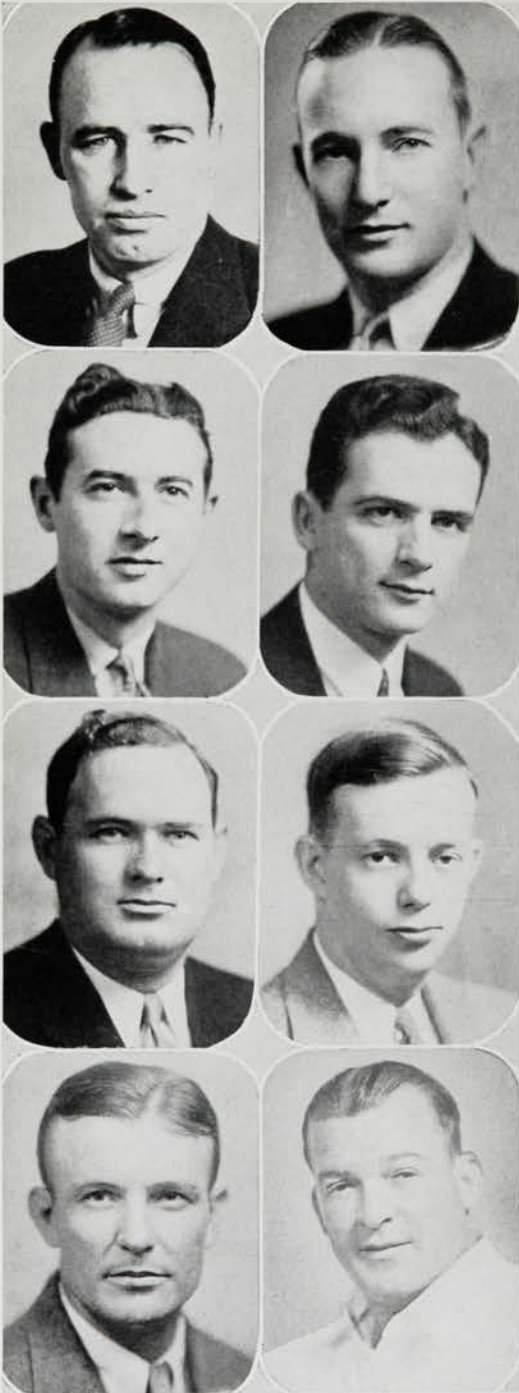

Due to his ill health following the close of the gridiron season, Coach Pixlee was granted a leave of absence from the University for a year, and upon his return will act as coordinator between the various branches of the athletic department and the administration.

In connection with this change, Max Farrington was named head of the athletic department, while Coach Bill Reinhart was advanced to the position of head football coach. "Botchy" Koch, one of the finest line coaches in the nation, remains as head line coach. Additional members of the football coaching staff are Tim Moynihan, assistant coach, formerly of Notre Dame; and Jean Sexton, head Frosh coach.

Coach of the great court team is Bill Reinhart, who learned and played his college football and basketball at Oregon University. Arthur "Otts" Zahn, former court star here, leads the undefeated Frosh basketball five.

William Meyers and Bernie Phillips also serve the University in coaching capacities, leading the activities in intramurals, with Meyers also serving as major-domo of the Varsity House.

Rounding out the staff is Johnny Busick, newly appointed director of sport publicity, who turned in a fine piece of work during his first year in that difficult position. His ingenuity was the force making possible the colorful activities between halves at the football and basketball games. Johnny is a graduate of the University and a former Sports Editor of the Hatchet.

THE MANAGERIAL SYSTEM

The University athletic managerial system is headed by the Senior manager of athletics, who coordinates the work of the undergraduate managers of all the various sports. Under the Senior manager are the Junior managers of football, basketball, and minor sports. The Sophomore managers are appointed to help the Junior managers and to manage the Freshman teams. To enable them to gain experience, Freshmen are appointed by the athletic department to assist the other managers, for they are the men upon whose shoulders will fall the more important duties in the future, and one of them will later be elected to the important post of Senior manager.

Promotions on the staff are based upon the merit system, whereby experience and ability furnish grounds for advancement. The Senior manager and the Junior manager, in cooperation with Max Farrington, head of the athletic department, elect the next Senior manager before the close of each school year.

The manager of football was Allen Rothenberg; Junior manager of basketball, Arthur Kleinman; and the Freshman manager of basketball was Harry Arnest.

The managers of the varsity teams receive lettered sweaters, and the managers of the Freshman teams receive sweaters with numerals.

FOOTBALL

Fighting spirit characterized the Colonial gridsters this year. The Buffmen came roaring back from training camp full of steam, apparently ready for the tough season they had to face. However, things didn't go so well; trouble dogged their every step. But in spite of adverse conditions the team kept fighting to the bitter end.

In struggles with eight worthy opponents, George Washington emerged victorious on three occasions.

The season started off favorably for George Washington when Wake Forest was defeated to the tune of 34 to 6. The Buffmen played a good game, but they lacked the click they failed to find during the rest of the season.

The successful start of the season was followed by a victory of 18 to 13 over a mediocre West Virginia Wesleyan eleven. It was in this game that Sampson began to show his stellar qualities as a halfback.

Then along came the Crimson Tide from Alabama to upset the apple cart for the first time by drenching the colonials, 19-0.

"Razzle-dazzle" Tulsa failed to dazzle anyone greatly when they barely managed to eke out a victory of 14 to 13 in one of the best games of the season. The Colonials showed unfulfilled promise in this game.

Ole Miss flew into town, exhibited her power, and a bag full of tricks, and flew home with a 27 to 6 victory under her wing.

The Colonial eleven made the annual Homecoming a very successful event when they put the North Dakota Bisons through the mill, grinding out a 33 to 0 score.

Invading the Midwest, the Colonials surprised all football fans by holding Arkansas to a scoreless tie. This game showed what might have happened throughout the year if the Buffmen had had a few breaks.

The final tragedy and the heartrending defeat of the year was handed to the Colonials by West Virginia in the last game of the season. The result was 26 to 0 for West Virginia.

Outstanding men of this year's team were: Sampson, Turner, Yurwitz, Weinberg, Schiering, Tihila, Renzaglia, B. Nowasky, Canning, Merka, Berry, Hallberg, Stapleton, Kaufman.

Wake Forest Game

Opening the 1937 campaign against a foe that has always been considered among the toughest, the Colonials gave hopes of being one of the finest teams in the history of football at the University by trouncing the Deacons of Wake Forest College, 34-6.

Playing before 14,262 ardent (?) fans, the Buff and Blue men turned on the heat early in the contest and scored on a blocked punt and a 35-yard run by Lloyd Berry, end. From that point on the Colonials could not be stopped, or rather Vic Sampson could not.

From the Deacon 15-yard line, Vic, in his first play of the game, dashed over the goal line for the second score. From that point on, the coaches substituted freely, using a total of 23 players in an effort to secure a winning combination for the tough games to follow.

West Virginia Wesleyan Game

In the second game of the season, played on October 8 at Griffith Stadium, the Colonials made it two victories in a row, but had a heap of trouble in subduing the West Virginia Wesleyan eleven for the honor, winning by an 18-13 score.

Some 10,000 fans gathered to see a very ragged, misdirected eleven almost defeated by a greatly inferior Mountaineer team, but again it was Vic Sampson who saved the day, both from the standpoint of victory and from the viewpoint of the fans.

Flashing brilliance in only three instances, the Colonials managed to capitalize upon those instances and chalk up three touchdowns. The first score came as the result of a beautiful 60-yard touchdown run by Sampson, and the second came after an end run by Sampson following his 30-yard pass to Bruce Mahan. Jay Turner, one of the finest defensive men on the team, accounted for the other score, marking up a six-pointer on the famed sleeper play. He successfully escaped the eyes of the Bobcats and nabbed a pass for a touchdown without a hand being laid upon him.

The two Wesleyan scores were the results of breaks. Joey Kaufman fumbled a punt by Coleman of the 'Cats on the Colonial 20-yard line, from where they scored via the air. The second touchdown was scored following Ciccione's blocking of Biff Borden's punt on the 1-foot line. Mackey scored from the 1-foot line on an end run.

Alabama Game

Supposedly benefitting by a rest of two weeks, the Colonials entered the game with Alabama pepped up for a victory which would bring with it national fame and honor. They made a noble attempt, but failed before 25,000 fans, the Tide of Crimson annexing a 19-0 victory.

VIC SAMPSON

If there was any individual great on this year's team, Vic is the man. This diminutive quarterback led his team well, carried the ball farthest and most for the Buff, made himself the man to get in every Colonial game. The only G. W. player to make the All-District team this year, Vic will be back next year, rarin' to go.

LLOYD BERRY

Berry, one of the finest ends ever developed by the Colonials, played probably the most consistent game of any of Koch's linemen. A star on defense, fast, aggressive and smart, Berry filled the shoes of graduate Ray Hanken in a most admirable fashion.

DUCE KEAHEY

This Texas product, a newcomer to the squad, filled one of the tackle posts left vacant by the graduation of last year's tackles, and turned in some valuable work, being a vicious tackler and as tough as they come.

JAY TURNER

Probably the most spirited player on the team, Jay was a star on defense, as well as the best line plunger on the squad. A Junior fullback, Jay starred in every game for the Colonials, performing well in even the worst defeats the Colonials suffered.

BOB FARIS

A Junior this year, although he played only short portions of the majority of the Colonial games, Bob clearly stamped himself as a pass catcher de luxe. His touchdown against Mississippi as a result of a spectacular catch was the bright spot of the season.

HOWARD TIHILA

A Senior blocking back, who could always be depended upon in a pinch. A hard blocker and one of the best tacklers on the squad, "Nig" will be sorely missed next fall.

JAY TURNER

LLOYD BERRY

COTTINGHAM

Although they played a superior brand of ball than at any other time in the entire season, the Buff were simply outclassed and did not have a chance against the Tide. Only once did the Pixleemen have an opportunity to push over a score, and that was the occasion on which they reached the 'Bama 22-yard line in the fourth quarter.

The Tide's attack was all that advance reports heralded it as being, with Joe Kilgrow, Hughes and Holm running true to form and with her line one of the finest ever to walk upon the sod of Griffith Stadium. The first score came as the result of a fine pass from Kilgrow to Perron Shoemaker, right end. Shoey grabbed the aerial on the Colonial 7 and scored standing up.

The second Crimson score followed shortly with the boys from the South carrying the ball from the Colonial 32 down to the 7, where they made it first and goal to go. After the Buff had been penalized five yards to the 2-yard stripe, it was child's play for Kilgrow to score on a line plunge. The final score for the visitors came when Charlie Holm intercepted Sampson's pass on the Colonial 31. Holm, who starred throughout the battle, galloped to the goal line untouched by human hands.

Tulsa Game

A freak play, a bitter defeat, and a whale of a battle accurately describe the game with Tulsa University's Golden Hurricane. The Colonials were the victims of the evening and dropped a bitter battle by a score of 14-13 before 12,000 fans at Griffith Stadium on the evening of October 29.

For three full quarters the Colonials clearly outplayed the gentlemen from the Southwest and entered the final chapter of the game with a margin that should have spelled victory, for they then enjoyed the long end of a 13-7 count.

Substitute Quarterback McClune of the visitors made it a bad night when he scored quite unexpectedly and unorthodoxically on one of the many passes that his teammate Tommy Thompson tossed during the course of the evening. The ball, deflected by Bruce Mahan, flew into the arms of McClune, who stepped across the goal line for the score; and victory came when Lineman Charlie Johnson added the extra point on a place kick.

The Colonials who deserved credit for their fine showing were Ends Pete Yurwitz and Lloyd Berry, Backs Sampson and Turner, and Tackle Johnny Rebholz.

Mississippi Game

Still smarting under the o-o tie handed them last year by the Colonials, Ole Miss put on an exhibition of power and deception, the like of which was never seen on the local collegiate gridiron and trounced the Colonial Buffmen 27-6. Except in the early moments of the second quarter when Reinhart's charges dominated the game and in

RICHARDSON

TIM STAPLETON

The "watch fob" center of the squad, Tim makes up for his lack of weight and height by his superior and stellar performance. Tim saw an unexpected amount of service at the center post this year due to the injury of Harringer, and acquitted himself very nobly, much to the gratification of the coaches.

TED COTTINGHAM

Another of the Seniors on the team, Ted showed marked improvement this year, starring in his ability to diagnose plays and for his aggressive work at the guard post. Ted will be sorely missed next year.

FRANK MERKA

This Junior halfback saw considerable action this year, due largely to his ball-carrying ability and his rank as the best all-around kicker on the squad. A smart runner, Frank could always be trusted to kick the ball far and wide in the tightest of spots. A valuable blocker as well, he was a distinct aid to the back-field cause.

BOB CANNING

Place-kicker of the team, Bob's post is a tackle spot. A Senior next season, he should reach the high point of his career with the Buff. His chief bid for fame is by virtue of his educated toe, which can always be depended upon for extra-point efforts, punts and kickoffs.

HAROLD SCHIERING

Hal was the revelation on the line this year, seeing action practically 60 minutes of every game. His fine play along with that of the other guard, Renzaglia, gave the Colonials as fine a pair of guards as the Colonials have had in many years.

BILLY RICHARDSON

Billy, the only D. C. product on the team, played at quarterback in several of the games this year, and showed great possibilities, despite his size. A triple-threat man, Richardson should be an integral part of next year's backfield combination.

the third quarter when Vic Sampson put on a one-man show and passed to Faris to score the only touchdown for the Colonials, the Rebels had pretty much their own way with things.

Starting the scoring assault early in the game, Hall intercepted a pass on the Buff and Blue 38 and behind perfect interference scored the initial touchdown for the Rebels. The Rebels did not stop with one touchdown, and the waning minutes of the first quarter saw Ray Hapes break away on the Colonial 22-yard stripe and carry the ball to the 5-yard marker. Lenhardt carried the ball over on two tries for the second score of the game.

Even in the fast company of Hapes, Kinard, White, and Bilbo, Mississippi greats, it was our own Vic Sampson who provided the thrills. In the second quarter, Vic made the longest run of the game, ending 45 yards from where he started, but a 15-yard penalty on the next play put the Buffmen back in the shadow of their own goal posts. From here the Rebels held the Colonials and in five plays had blasted their way across the goal line on a pass labeled "touchdown" from Hall to Kinard.

Sampson again broke out with some spectacular playing in the third quarter which eventually ended up with a 6 on the scoreboard for the Colonials. A quick kick by Vic caught the Rebels unawares and a beautiful piece of broken field running uncorked by Sampson brought the ball down to within scoring distance, and a pass from Vic to Bob Faris put over the score.

The Rebels came right back and capitalized on an intercepted pass to score again before the final gun sounded, leaving the Colonials with their worst drubbing in two years.

North Dakota State Game

Playing as a part of the annual Homecoming celebration, the Colonials came through in a style properly adapted to the pleading of old grads, and marched serenely over a weak Nodak team to a 33-0 victory before the eyes of 9,000 supporters.

Held to a single score in the first half, the Colonials pepped up their play in the third and fourth quarters to run up a 33-0 lead by the shooting of the final gun.

Vic Sampson was responsible for the only first-half score, making it on a beautiful run of 60 yards in the second quarter. After what must have been a very restful intermission, the Pixleemen romped roughshod over the Nodaks in the final half, with practically the entire Buff team figuring in the scoring. The most risque play of the afternoon feature was a touchdown play in which Joey Kaufman flipped an aerial to Bob Canning, Colonial tackle, who scored from the 8-yard line.

North Dakota's only threat was Bernie Bermann's recovery of Tihila's fumble on the Colonial 16, but the Buffmen were not really in danger, for the Bisons gained a total of minus 8 yards from this point.

NICKSICK

JOEY KAUFMAN

Playing his last year as a Buffman, Joey proved to be a consistent ground gainer and a fine passer as well as a fine field general. Moving in on the varsity field as a Sophomore Kaufman has been a valuable asset to Coach Pixlee for three years.

GUY RENZAGLIA

Guy was a regular who could always be depended upon to come through in fine style, and although outweighed by most of his opponents, invariably outplayed them. Playing his second year, Guy could always be found in any pile-up around center, and allowed very little yardage to be gained through his guard position. He'll be back next year to do battle for the Colonials.

ALLAN HOLT

Hard hit by ankle injuries and other ailments, Holt saw a minimum of action this year so that his performance, which made him a real mate for Hanken last year, was negligible. He recovered at the last of the season and saw a little action, however, and will be back next year to seek his regular starting flank post.

IZZY WEINBERG

Although injured early in the season, Izzy came back to aid greatly in proving that the Colonial's line was a thing to be taken seriously by all its opponents. One of the fastest men on the squad, he is rated as one of the best guards in recent George Washington grid history and next year should be at his peak.

BOGDAN NICKSICK

Nick, gaining considerable note for his relationship to his brother, the famous Pitt star, turned in a fine job as a back-field man on the Colonial machine. Another small man, Nicksick showed great offensive power due to his speed and elusive "scat back" style of running.

PETE YURWITZ

All indications that Pete would blossom into one of the finest ends on the squad were verified this fall when he developed into a crashing end on defense and a fine pass receiver on offense. Pete was fast in getting down the field under punts and was as effective in blocking as any flanker you'll find.

Arkansas Game

Following a long, long trek to the bad lands of Arkansas, the Colonials faced a problem of almost impossible proportions, that of beating the Razorbacks. They met the task with a will that was limited by an equal will of the Porkers. The result—G. W., 0; Arkansas, 0.

Taking the field with little other than a weak hope of defeating the team which trounced "Ole Miss," conquerors of the Colonials, our men staved off a strong aerial attack of the Fayetteville eleven, and managed to hold their superiors to a deadlock for the entire game before 10,000 surprised fans at Little Rock, Arkansas.

Ending a scoring streak that had endured through thirty-one games, the Colonials reached the peak of an otherwise miserable season by acquitting themselves in truly amazing style against the Southwest Conference champions. Only once did the Razorbacks near the pay stripe, and on that occasion the Buff line held on its own 4-yard line.

Three times the Colonials took advantage of Razorback fumbles to hammer at the Porker goal line, but were turned back each time, once by a brilliant goal-line stand and twice by heart-breaking penalties.

West Virginia Game

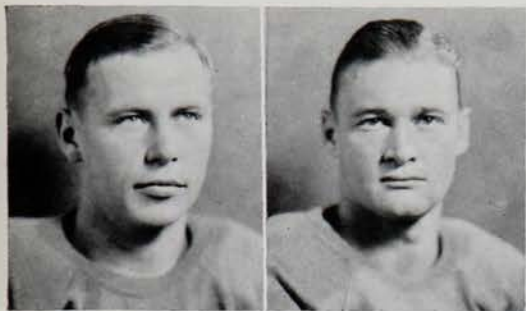

Returning in temporary glory from Arkansas, the Colonials again took the road, this time for a shorter and sorrier trip. Their journey ended brutally and abruptly in Morgantown, West Virginia, on Thanksgiving Day, the victim of Indian-like hospitality, and a 26-0 lambasting.

Four times the Mountaineers hit pay dirt, and twice they scored on the extra-point effort. While they were reaping these blessings from the god of football wars, the Colonials were slipping on an ice-covered field, absorbing dire humility, and scoring absolutely nothing.

While the Colonials were reeling off an amazing total of 7 first downs for the afternoon's efforts, the backfield stars of the home team were tearing the Buff line to shreds. Sammy Pinion, Kelly Moan and a light-footed young man named Clark were responsible for the scoring spree, running the ends, the line, and the Colonials in general into the ground.

The closest that the Colonials got to the final marker was the 15-yard line, and that push came to an abrupt end late in the fourth quarter after the better part of the blood had already been spilled.

And so, in humility, ends the 1937 gridiron campaign.

HALLBERG

BRUCE MAHAN

Starting quarterback in the majority of the games this year, this Senior will be sorely missed next year, for he is probably the smartest backfield man on the team, is a good ball carrier, a fine blocker and one of the rare type of men who give the team fire and spirit in action.

LOUIS CARROLL

After recovering from a leg injury sustained in his Junior year, Louis started the season at end, but was shifted to the blocking halfback position when he saw action. Carroll played his last year, and was a fair ball carrier.

BOB NOWASKY

Bob is just a Sophomore this year, and so brilliantly did he perform his fullback position on the squad and in spring practice that the G. W. coaches predicted his success last fall. He didn't let them down, and appears to be the brightest prospect G. W. has had since Tuffy Lee-mans.

JOHN REBHOLZ

John is the player who can always be depended upon to do his part, although frequently unnoticed by the crowd. He gets results and plays in a steady, dependable style. John has one more year, and if he improves as much next year as he did this, there is no reason that he can't go down as one of the grid greats of G. W.

ALLAN HALLBERG

Alternating with Stapleton at the pivot position, Center Hallberg showed his stuff on many occasions, and stamped himself as a valuable addition to the squad this year. In addition to his football prowess, he holds the highest scholastic average of the varsity.

ELMER HOGG

Elmer, who hails from Arkansas, was one of the hardest hitting fullbacks seen on the local gridiron in recent years, and could always be depended upon to pick up three or four yards when needed. Although not seeing as much action as was deemed his, Elmer played well when he was in the game.

Vic Sampson in Homecoming game against North Dakota State.

BASKETBALL

Stamping themselves as one of the finest teams of the nation, the '37-'38 Colonial basketball team won 13 games from some of the strongest teams in the nation, losing only 4 battles in a 17-game schedule.

Coach Bill Reinhart, in building this powerful squad, was faced by the loss of three of last year's regulars by graduation, but he managed to mould a well-balanced five around his sole remaining Senior, Captain Tommy O'Brien. The four other regulars for practically all of the season were Juniors, Bob Faris, Jack Butterworth, and Sid Silkowitz, and George Garber, Sophomore. Arnold "Reds" Auerbach, another Sophomore, saw active service in practically all of the games, both as a forward and a guard.

The team opened the season with five successive victories, smothering Baltimore University in the opener and then trouncing the University of Tennessee by a large margin. Victories over the two powerful Big Ten schools, Minnesota and Ohio State marked a high point in the season's activities. Following a victory over Elon, the Colonials suffered their first setback at the hands of the Long Island Blackbirds in New York. The loss to the Blackbirds marked the beginning of a road trip to the West, in which the team defeated West Virginia and Wayne and lost to Loyola and Toledo University.

Returning home from a tiring swing to the West, the team chalked up successive victories over Westminster and Wayne, before again taking to the road to beat St. John's at Brooklyn.

After the St. John's game, the Colonials boasted a record of ten wins and three defeats. There were four remaining games on their schedule, the first two being with Loyola of Chicago. With a possible bid to the National basketball tournament in New York at stake, the Buffmen defeated Loyola the next two nights with scores of 44-39 and 48-33.

With only one day's rest intervening they went to Cumberland, Md., and defeated Davis-Elkins, 54-43. The loss of the Washington and Jefferson game the following day was a bitter climax to the season's record of thirteen wins and four defeats.

THREE COLONIALS MAKE ALL- DISTRICT FIVE

Sid Silkowitz leaping for ball in Loyola game

In honor of their outstanding play throughout the long, tough season of intercollegiate basketball competition, three Colonial regulars were named to the annually chosen All-District Court team, selected by the downtown papers from the colleges of the District. The Buff-and-Blue men so named were Captain Tommy O'Brien, Jack Butterworth, and Bob Faris.

Tommy O'Brien, captain of the mythical five, was elected to the team for the third successive year, being the first court star in recent years so honored. His outstanding defensive and offensive work at forward marked him as one of the finest courtmen ever to wear the Buff and Blue and caused him to be signified by Coach

Bill Reinhart as the "finest captain I have ever coached."

Jack Butterworth, lanky, accurate-shooting center, was named to the team over Mike Petroskey, Hoya center, who was accorded a guard post on the team. Jack was cited as being one of the most capable all-around centers in the East. He placed second in the high-scoring race among the members of the Colonial team.

To Bob Faris went the other forward post on the team, and justly so, for Bob finished second in the District in scoring, leading his team with a total of 170 markers for the 17 games in which he played. One of the fastest men on his team, Bob could always be depended upon for several baskets and could be relied upon for the highest type of defensive work.

In addition to these three men, George Garber, Sophomore Colonial guard, was awarded a position in that spot on the second team chosen by the sports writers. The return of Garber, Faris, Silkowitz, and Butterworth to the Colonial court wars next year should give Coach Reinhart a fine basis upon which to form a team even stronger than this year's impressive five, which won 13 out of 17 games.

Rounding out the mythical five, Mike Petroskey of Georgetown was awarded one of the guard posts while George Knepley, of Maryland, was honored with the other guard position.

Bob Faris battles for ball in Long Island game. Jack Butterworth may be seen in the background.

RIFLE

The Varsity rifle team closed the current season with the finest record compiled in recent years. Under the capable direction of Coach Frank Parsons, the Colonial sharpshooters set a record of six victories in seven matches in the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate League.

In addition the Buff marksmen engaged in six shoulder-to-shoulder matches with local teams and competed in three tournaments. George Washington was runner-up to the local Marine Barracks team in the District Championship Tournament held on February 22. The Colonials won the Carnegie Tech Invitation Tournament at Pittsburgh for the second year in a row.

In the Individual Intercollegiate Championship Tournament, Julian Griggs won third place honors. The five regular Colonial riflemen won five of the first eleven places—a very creditable performance.

The six men who consistently shot the highest totals during the season were Dana Wallace, William Wetzel, Julian Griggs, Manager Jack Harlan, Robert Randall, and William Brown.

INTERFRATERNITY ATHLETICS

Interfraternity Athletics, which always arouse keen interest and competition among the twelve Greek-letter organizations on the campus, got under way early in the school year with tennis as the lead-off on the strenuous schedule under the direction of George Croft, athletic chairman of the Interfraternity Council. Moving through four brackets the tourney furnished four weeks of competition for the "Brothers."

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, which eliminated Phi Sigma Kappa, defending champions of two years' standing, went on to win the crown by defeating Sigma Chi, 3-2. S. A. E. lost no matches until the finals.

Following tennis on the program, basketball was inaugurated with the same fine spirit of competition that marked the tennis tourney.

Sigma Nu and Acacia, who were undefeated in competition, were disqualified for using men who had played varsity ball. This situation caused them to forfeit all of their games and placed Delta Tau Delta and Kappa Sigma in the league leads. On February 7 in a hard-fought contest, the Delts took an early lead to finish the half leading Kappa Sigma 14-6. The Kappa Sigs came back and held the Delts to two points in the second half, but lost, 17-16.

An All-Interfraternity team was chosen by the Hatchet staff. Honored on the team were: Bob McConnell of Sigma Chi, and Joe Bob Gale of Kappa Sigma at forwards; Howard Mace of Phi Sigma Kappa at center; and Vic Sampson of Acacia and Karl Schmitt of Delta Tau Delta at guards.

With the beginning of the second semester bowling and ping pong were ushered in, the bowling competition scheduled on Saturdays and ping pong on Sunday nights at the various fraternity houses. Play was usually followed by radio dances.

In the bowling, Phi Sigma Kappa annexed the league B crown and succeeded in downing the league A title holders, Theta Upsilon Omega, defending champions, to win the cup in two straight games. T. U. O. was the favorite as the finals approached, having piled up the best record for the season; but the Phi Sig toppers were in rare form and rolled high games of 526 and 533 pins to decisively defeat the favorites.

The Phi Sigs, who were defending champions in table tennis, again won their league by piling up the enviable record of 24 wins against one loss. Kappa Alpha, the other league champion, duplicated the Phi Sig performance and competition ran high as the finals approached.

Phi Sigma Kappa also successfully defended its fifth consecutive baseball title by defeating T. U. O. last spring. Both of these teams met the year before in the finals, with the Phi Sigs getting the nod in the earlier meeting.

With several promising Frosh casaba tossers as a nucleus, Ott Zahn built a team which won its fourteen games and went through an unusually successful season despite the fact that first-semester grades cut the squad of several first-string members.

Scheduling two games with the Frosh of Maryland University as the highlights, the Colonial yearlings played through a most impressive season with decisive wins over Fredericksburg High, George Washington High, Washington-Lee High, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who last year won over the Frosh in the finals of the District A. A. U. tournament.

Outstanding men on the squad who should develop into valuable assets to the varsity quint in the future are Joe Comer, center; Louis Veltri, forward; Jack Oland, guard; Manfield Hyatt, forward; Edward Amendola, forward; and Ludwig Urick, at guard.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Injuries, illness and lack of material were a few of the things that Coach Jean Sexton had to combat in the molding of the Colonial yearling team.

Opening the season against the Naval Academy's Plebes, the Frosh lost their first encounter by a 19-0 score.

Although showing lack of practice, the scrubs played "heads-up" football throughout the first half only to weaken in the second half to let the Plebes push over three scores. A lateral in the third quarter started the scoring for the Plebes; this was followed in the fourth quarter by capitalizing on a blocked punt and an intercepted pass to push over two more tallies on the tiring Frosh.

Conflict of schedules caused the second game against the Carney Point, New Jersey, Y. M. C. A. gridders to be postponed from October 2 to October 30, when the two teams played to a 7-7 tie. This was the third consecutive year these teams have clashed, and a rivalry has sprung up between them which should do much to inspire incoming yearling teams at the Colonial institution.

Because of increasing illness and lack of material the game with the Temple University Freshmen was cancelled.

Frosh gridders who showed promise of becoming valuable varsity men were Edward Wilamowski, a triple-threat back; Alvin Honeycut, best punter on either the freshman or the varsity squads; George Mitros, guard; John Kokoski, guard; Jack Kannady, end; Vic Tourrou, end; Anthony Batauskos, tackle; Thomas Grady, guard; and Cal Courtney, end.

INTRAMURALS

Inaugurating one of the most extensive programs ever undertaken by the athletic department of the University, intramural activities were started shortly after registration with tennis and golf tournaments. Following these two sports, touch football, basketball and table tennis rounded out the first semester with what proved to be one of the busiest semesters in intramural history.

Individual winners were named in tennis, table tennis, and golf, with cups being given as prizes. F. Elwood Davis won the tennis tourney, while S. G. Loeffler captured the golf crown. Eldon Scott was awarded the trophy in the table tennis competition.

Introduced for the first time this year was touch football. Two leagues were formed with four teams in each league. After four weeks of competition, the Bears, a team composed of Law students, emerged with the "bacon" and received a cup for their victory.

As cold weather set in, all activities were confined to the gym where a basketball tournament was staged. The Law "A" five won the championship in a final game with Law "B" after five interesting weeks of play.

To care for the usual lapse of past intramural programs, volleyball was added to the late winter schedule of activity and proved of value in carrying the program through to the early spring outdoor sports.

Plans for spring sports were laid shortly after the beginning of the second semester. The sports undertaken and carried out were tennis, soft ball, horseshoes, baseball, and golf.

Max Farrington, head of the athletic department of the University, deserves the credit for organizing the vast program which has proven so valuable an addition to the activities of the University. In his work he was assisted by the other two members of the intramural board, Bernie Phillips and Tim Moynihan. Various members of the varsity football and basketball teams assisted these men in carrying out the schedules as arranged.

The year's activities opened with a unique party for Freshmen women, which was followed by the annual Fall Play Day at Hood College. A banquet was held in December. In February, a Winter Play Day was enjoyed at Goucher. Over a period of several weeks during this month the regular basketball and badminton tournaments were run. Later there was an open evening and a dance recital in addition to a Varsity House-W. A. A. party. Awards were made at the winter and spring banquets.

This year the Intramural Board sponsored a Pep Rally for women. Coach Pixlee gave an illustrated lecture on "Football from a Spectator's Standpoint." The sports program included two tournaments of volley ball and ping pong, followed by bowling, badminton, and swimming. The organization scoring the most points in all the tournaments is awarded a cup at the annual spring banquet. Cups are awarded to sororities for each event won. Individual letters also are given to outstanding players. Kappa Delta won the plaque last year.

HOCKEY

Hockey enthusiasts enjoyed a popular season this year under the direction of Eleanor Wyvell, manager, and Miss Jenny Turnbull, instructor. The assistant managers this fall were: Emily Sirola, Margaret Burch, Alice Miller, Jane Castell and Isabel Richwine.

In the games between the teams of the various hockey sections, the Colonial Buffs emerged triumphant.

Mary Schrieber, Isabel Richwine, Frances Alex, Peggy Lavender, Mary Christianson, Jane Castell, Alison Claflin, Ann Gaither, Frances Prather, Eleanor Wyvell, and Helen Neuendorf were chosen for the honorary varsity.

SOCCER

With Mary Jane Livingston as manager and Miss Helen Lawrence as coach, the soccer season last fall was a very successful one.

One of the most important events of the season was the annual fall sports meet with Hood and Goucher Colleges at Frederick, Md. The G. W. soccer team played four highly contested games with only one loss.

Muriel Friedman, Katherine Bowen, Mabel Johnson, Marion Pauls, Lily Cobb, Margaret McDowell, Laura Ellis, Catherine Moore, Ruth Ream, Mary Jane Livingston and Agnes Ryman were selected for the honorary varsity.

The assistant managers were: Agnes Ryman, Margaret McDowell, Ruth Ream and Laura Ellis.

TENNIS

Alison Claflin, with Virginia Moore as a close runner-up, carried off the honors in the fall tennis tournament which was the main event of the Tennis season.

In the doubles tournament which was played off in the latter part of October, Alison Claflin and Virginia Moore teamed together to defeat the Margaret Duffy-Laura Ellis combination for the doubles title.

In the spring tennis season class teams were chosen and both singles and doubles tournaments were played.

Miss Turnbull was the coach and Mary Christianson the sport manager. Margaret Duffy, Sally Steele, Madelaine Matchett, and Alison Claflin were assistant managers.

ARCHERY

Under Hazel Smallwood, sports manager, and Miss Elizabeth Burtner, instructor, the fall season reached its culmination in the Annual Fall Tournament. Hazel Smallwood, winner of last Spring's Cup, also won the Fall Cup.

For the first time, an Archery Varsity was selected. The girls were: Mary Backenstoss, Jean Harris, Lydia Israel, Jean Meyn, Carol Olson, Emily Scott, Clair Singer, Hazel Smallwood, Claire Swinney and Betty Wilkinson.

Another innovation this year was the formation of the Archery Club, which features indoor archery.

BASKETBALL

With the inter-class games and a Triangular Sport Meet with Hood and Goucher Colleges in Baltimore as the outstanding events of the season, basketball this winter has kept up its traditional popularity.

Following the inter-class competition in the early part of February, the odd vs. even and the honorary varsity vs. alumnae games were played. The latter contest is always of especial interest because many of last year's grads come back to play.

Miss Lawrence and Miss Turnbull coached the separate class teams, and Barbara Harmon was the sport manager. Gladys Lagos, Ellen Zirpel, Ruth Ream and Peggy Essary were assistant managers.

BADMINTON

Badminton continued its rapid rise in the favor of George Washington's sportswomen. Miss Jenny Turnbull directed this sport, aided by Virginia Moore, sports manager, and the class managers, Jane Smith, Ellen Zirpel, Betty Corkhill and Betty Hayworth.

In February, Marion Pauls won the singles tournament with Jane Castell as runner-up. Women's doubles matches were played within the various classes. Class victors then competed against each other for the championship.

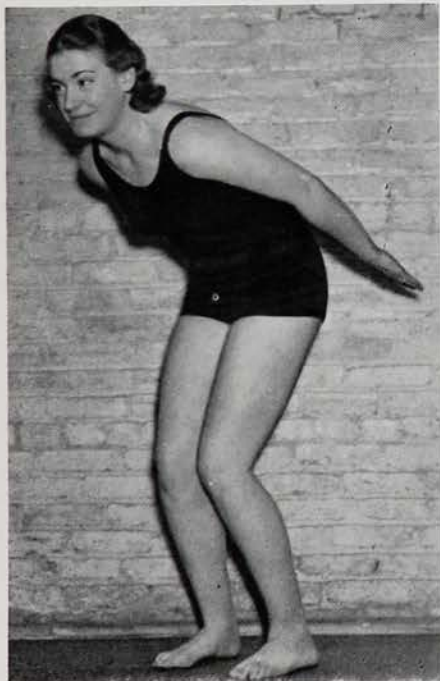

Again this year, the mixed doubles tournament proved very popular with an impressive number of couples competing.

DANCING

The "New Dance" continued to be one of the most popular activities offered during the winter season. The fact was shown by the number of enthusiastic dancers, who after having worked with the dance groups in class for several months, were initiated into Orchesis, honorary advanced dance group.

Both the Recital and the Symposium, annually held each spring, proved successful under the inspiration and leadership of Miss Burtner in establishing dance as a major art form on the campus.

SWIMMING

Fins, a recreational club sponsored by Miss Jenny Turnbull, again dominated the swimming scene at George Washington.

Starting in the fall, semi-monthly swims were given at the Shoreham swimming pool. The school's mermaids enjoyed such features as diving instructions, several coed swims, and lessons for beginners.

Heading Fins was Mary Christianson, president; with Betty Burch as vice-president; Ann Gaither, secretary; and Jane Castell, treasurer.

In the spring, the large annual Swimming Meet took place. All types of swimming techniques, including both swimming and diving, were represented here.

GOLF

Golf, that ancient sport of the Scottish Highlands, ably coached by Miss Jenny Turnbull and managed by Norma Hatfield, had a very successful season during 1937-'38.

Approximately 20 young lassies, eight of whom were eligible for the Women's Athletic Association, reported for classes on the West Potomac Links. In the sectional contests the best scores were made by Laura Ellis, Betty Brown and Dorothy Stilwell.

The annual spring tournament was played on the East Potomac Links.

RIDING

Local equestriennes had a most successful year under the able direction of Miss Ruth Atwell and Miss Elizabeth Burtner. Sports Manager Laura Ellis remained the most outstanding figure among G. W.'s coed riders.

The Shoreham riding ring was the scene of an informal Fall Riding Show with Laura Ellis emerging victorious.

High point of the entire year was the annual Spring Show, staged at Meadowbrook, with all G. W. horsewomen eligible. An added attraction this year was the presentation of the silver cup, given to the winner by Arthur Godfrey, popular radio entertainer and horse fancier.

RIFLE

G. W.'s women riflers, under Coach Helen Hanford, and Manager Norma Hatfield, had a busy season.

The Varsity team, composed of Betty Bates, Virginia Birkby, Laura Ellis, Nancy Gatch, Carol Hobart (Captain), Doris Ludwig, Marie McNeese, Carolyn Watson, Betty Wilkinson and Jean Yocum, competed in Inter-collegiate and National Rifle Association matches. The Varsity won ten out of thirteen matches, competing against such teams as Drexel, Missouri, Maryland and Carnegie Tech.

Junior Medal awards, for girls under 18, were inaugurated this year.

Girls not on varsity were eligible for Individual and Class matches, the latter being hard-fought between the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior-Senior teams.

Hobart, Hanford, Hatfield

Two established features of the Yearbook eagerly awaited each year by the students are the Beauty Contest and The Hall of Fame.

Gilbert Bundy, noted illustrator, graciously consented to choose the three most beautiful girls at George Washington from the following contestants: Katherine Baart, Catherine Brown, Lily Dhu Cobb, Virginia Birkby, Elizabeth Hogentogler, Virginia Moore, Mary Norris, Mildred Patterson, Margaret Smith, Violet Smith, Carolyn Watson, and Virginia Webb.

The Hall of Fame, selected by a faculty committee of Mrs. Barrows, Dean Doyle, Dean Johnstone, Dean Kayser, and Mr. Farrington, is composed of eight members of the graduating class of 1938 chosen on the basis of activities, scholarship, and general worthiness of recognition.

MARCH OF EVENTS

CAMP LETTS

Hope ran high during the three weeks gridiron training season at Camp Letts, Md., as players, coaches and scribes alike looked eagerly forward to what promised to be one of the best seasons in Colonial history.

With a banner year behind them, and practically the whole team returning, there seemed to be no reason to believe the Buff would do other than hang up an enviable record. All regular positions seemed adequately filled before the training camp was closed, and many promising Sophomores were fighting to break into the starting line-up.

Not a cloud loomed on Coach Jim Pixlee's horizon as the team broke camp and prepared to enter what was unanimously thought to be the "best season ever."

MAD CHAOS

Registration on September 18th, so eagerly anticipated by new students, so hurriedly and automatically done by the old ones, marks the beginning of the semester. It is bad enough for the re-entering students, but how the new ones last through the ordeal is one of the unsolved mysteries.

Incoming Freshmen are bewildered by signs indicating where various professors may be found. Program sheets are thrust into trembling hands, slips must be filled out with hazily remembered and, until now, unimportant incidents from the past and predictions of the future. Then comes the arduous task of making a schedule of classes corresponding to the requisites. All this must be approved by the advisers and the dean before the day is completed.

The students are then sent to the comptroller's office, where they pay for their tuition. Finally, the students are sent to the photographer, where, replete with shiny nose, rumpled hair and harried expression, an informal picture is taken for the activity book. This marks the end to a completely bewildering day.

CLASSES BEGIN

September means school, and school means classes at colleges and universities throughout the country, and G. W. is no exception. All the old students are so busy showing the new Freshmen where the different buildings are that they have no time to get to their own classes. It is also the time when the old students who do manage to get to classes are able to shine as the poor little Freshmen are a bit awed by it all for the first few weeks. Soon, however, the new students come into their own and all is normal once more.

LAMBS IN THE FOLD

Inaugurating for the first time a six weeks' rush period, campus Greek lettermen began, on September 18, the annual mad scramble for likely-looking prospects. Bewildered frosh were besieged on every hand with invitations to dance, smoke, see football games, shows, and co-operating co-eds, all at the expense of what they were always assured was the "best fraternity on this or any other campus."

The season rolled on through an almost endless succession of social functions, reaching its climax with Pledging Sunday, October 24. Result: 180 Freshmen sporting the pledge buttons of 12 fraternities.

UNION SHOOTS

The George Washington Union lost no time in setting the political pot to boiling for the school year. The Right and Left parties distributed vote-soliciting handbills during the first days of registration, and all three parties held conventions to nominate candidates for the presidency. The election was held and Bill Speer of the Center party was inaugurated into the office.

The Union during the year entertained David Cushman Coyle, Senator Guy Gillette, and the illusion that they were to become nationally famous, the latter induced by a hurry call from Life Magazine to present for its photographers a special session to be pictured in a forthcoming issue. The session was called, the pictures snapped but never printed. The Union's first legislative session started stiffly; quickly reverted into an exhibition of parliamentary acrobatics; ended in a melee.

TEA ORGY

Pan-Hellenic Tea, September 26, at the Raleigh Hotel, keynoted the campaign of the sorority rush season. A milling pack of sorority presidents and lesser rushers plied bewildered rushees with plates of cakes, drenched them with tea. Efforts of the Greek gals to impress Freshmen resulted in one of the gayest style shows of the year.

After a week of getting well acquainted, formal rushing began with sorority teas in chapter rooms on Sunday, October 3. The open season carried on until closing of preferential bid lists on October 14, packed with theatre and dinner parties, carnival parties, dances and teas of all descriptions.

Publication of bid results and informal pledging on October 15 saw 225 frosh gaily displaying the colors and corsages of their chosen lodges, their status changed from rushees to pledges.

FOOTBALLS AND APPLES

At Griffith Stadium on October 1, the Colonial grid machine, making its 1937 debut, drubbed weak Wake Forest, 34-6; warmed the hearts of G. W. rooters; gave promise of a successful season which failed to materialize. Chief interest, paradoxically, was centered less on the doings of the Buff warriors than on the half-time capers of the Rousers Club, who lampooned the funeral of the hapless Deacons, ending in a performance of the Big Apple to the accompaniment of Brusiloff's swingsters.

CRASHING SUCCESS

The major crashing success of the year was held October 8, sponsored by the Junior College Student Council under the misleading name of Frosh Mixer. The problem of finding enough Freshmen to justify the reason for the dance troubled very few Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors as they tripped the light fantastic to the trickling rhythm of Brusiloff's swing band.

NIGHT CLUB

Introducing an innovation in campus activities, the Student Council, on October 15, opened, under the able direction of Jay Samuel the first college night club in the East—the Buff 'n' Blue Room.

Three hundred students danced to the tunes of Bill McCallum's Band, vociferously applauded an all-student floor show, got their pictures in downtown papers. Director Samuel announced that the club would be opened several times during the school year and invited talented students to appear on the future programs.

All in all, the night club was a success for everyone concerned, bringing stage aspirants experience, students cheap entertainment; Samuel an ODK key.

SCRIBES MEET

The University's chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon played host in October to the national convention of their fraternity. Accomplishment of the convention was the striking out of the word "male" as a qualification for membership. Acting under the amendment, the local chapter at once invited the entire membership of Gamma Eta Zeta, fifteen-year-old local journalistic sorority, to full membership in Pi Delta Epsilon. The infusion of new blood worked like a charm. In fact, there are some of the old-school (male) members who feel that the enthusiastic activity of the new (female) members is likely to transfer leadership in the fraternity affairs.

DEADLINE DODGERS

Bob Howell's Handbook Staff went into the final two weeks before fall registration a month behind their deadline, and still no copy done. Since this is the usual state of affairs for a Handbook staff, no qualms were felt. Late vacations among the staff members and the perfidy of the Department of Agriculture, which transferred Bob to Cheyenne, turned it into a riot, though, and the printing presses were just able to keep up with the tide of Freshmen rushing through registration thirsting for information-laden Handbooks.

The Hatchet went through a harrowing year. Co-editor-elect Howell having been exiled, the fiendish ingenuity of Howard Ennes was given free rein. The paper entered the year faintly resembling the New York Times, and ran the gamut of type-face changes, novel headlines, column rules, no column rules, and photo-montage, managing to take for the third time the editorial cup awarded by the Inter-collegiate Press Association. Editor Ennes built up a real social-service move in his anti-syphilis campaign, which quickly spread to hundreds of other college papers.

TIDE ROLLS

Nobody expected to see the Colonials defeat Alabama, and nobody was surprised when the Crimson Tiders romped to a three-touch-down victory on October 23.

Only once did the Buff threaten to score and that was in the final quarter when Sampson's pass intended for Faris fell plunk in the middle of a group of Red Shirts holding a bull session in the shadow of the goal posts. Bad news: Alabama 19, G. W. 0.

SWEETHEARTS

It is the inalienable prerogative of every American to prefer his opinion to that of the experts, so this year we had a popularly-chosen Sweetheart to compete with THE CHERRY TREE's scientifically selected Beauty Queen. Chi Omega's Betty Hutto carried off the honors, including that of presiding at the Homecoming Ball and Rally, closely pursued by lovely ladies selected by twelve other groups. The harassed Election Committee was able to sidetrack the efforts of the uninhibited Hatchet staff to enter a cow.

RIP-SNORIN' HURRICANE

What proved to be the most heartbreaking game of the season was played by the Buff gridmen on October 29, when the Golden Hurricane of Tulsa University scored in the final period to gain a one-point victory.

For three quarters the Colonials outguessed, outplayed, outfought the yellow-clad Westerners, only to see victory snatched from their grasp by a rearin', tearin' Tulsa substitute. The nemesis' name was McClune and G. W.'s name was mud.

Score: 14-13.

CO-EDS' HAVEN

This year the dormitory has become one of the most important social spots on the campus. The girls have been very enthusiastic about planning Saturday afternoon tea dances and evening formals. A council consisting of three girls from each floor has been elected to plan these affairs. Many other social functions of the University have been held in the beautiful reception room. Proof of the Dorm's popularity may be had any evening between six and eight by the huge stag line surrounding the switch-board.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming, 1937, featured a lopsided defeat of the North Dakota State eleven, many of whom saw that afternoon, in large quantities, their first rainfall. The night before saw a rally at the Capitol Theatre, headlining the University Sweetheart candidates in a dance routine, climaxed by the announcement and crowning of Chi O.'s Betty Hutto as Sweetheart and Queen of the Homecoming. Also presented were the Band, Glee Club and Rousers, and, for the first time on any stage, a stellar aggregation of campus politicians playing themselves in a skit entitled "I'd Rather Be Right Than Rochelle." Despite the dampening effect of climate by the bucketful, a considerable audience paid quarters to attend, and enjoyed themselves and each other to the fullest and loudest extent.

The most raucous half hour was broadcast over a nation-wide hook-up.

Following the game Saturday night, the Homecoming Ball took the center of the stage, packing the Willard with a welter of classy clothes and gaiety. Queen Betty took the opportunity presented by intermission to present to Kappa Sigma the cup for having the best decorated fraternity house. Eleven protests, in Greek, were received in the next ten minutes.

REVENGE—AFTER A FASHION

Homecoming lured nine thousand fans out to Griffith Stadium to see the Colonials take revenge for previous beatings by whipping a very inferior North Dakota State team, 33-0. At that, the Buffmen were held to a lone touchdown in the first half, but the Nodaks wilted in the second session to give the Colonials their third victory of the year.

It was in this game that Joey Kaufman tossed a touchdown pass to Bob Canning, the stockiest player on the squad.

DAVIS CONTEST

Senior Classman Edwin Menton Cage, vigorously condemning American participation in foreign wars, was awarded the Davis public speaking prize in the 90th annual contest held in Corcoran Hall, November 17.

Mildred O. Vierling, discussing "Speech Training and the University," took second place; Raymond M. Firth, speaking on "Education for War or Peace," won third prize.

The large, enthusiastic audience heard six contestants deliver prepared ten-minute speeches in the traditional contest presided over by Dean Elmer Kayser, winner of the prize in 1917.

BAND DANCE

The Big Apple was the big feature of the Band Dance, held November 19 in the Student Club to send the University Band to Morgantown for the G. W.-West Virginia football game. Brusiloff furnished the swing.

The Band was on hand to support the team, as proof of the affair's success.

DEAD HEAT

Colonial's "over-their-heads football" in Little Rock, November 20, gave them a tie, 0-0, with the highly-touted Razorbacks. Despite Arch McDonald's two-fisted referee cussing, heard via radio by some thousands of fans, the game ended right there.

WAA WEEK

Women's Athletic Association presented its annual fall sports week, November 12-20, scene being recreation fields around the Washington Monument. Contests and games were arranged for those interested in hockey, soccer, tennis, golf, archery and equestriennism. Awards won this week were presented at the fall banquet, December 1, at the Admiral Club.

UPSETTERS UPSET

Fresh from holding Arkansas scoreless five days earlier, Colonials dropped this year's Turkey Day game, 26-0, to West Virginia, at Morgantown. Outclassed from beginning to end, the Colonials made no scoring threat. An enthusiastic cheering crowd was there, to no avail.

INTERNATIONAL DEBATE

"Resolved, That the Federal Supreme Court's power to declare statutes unconstitutional should be restricted," was the question that the two students of Melbourne University journeyed from Australia to this country to disprove. November 29 was the date of the international debate held before the Union. The audience of students and alumni were particularly interested in the viewpoints expressed by the two widely separated worlds.

FINAL CURTAIN?

Cue and Curtain, principal University drama group, after a brilliantly competent performance of "The Whiteheaded Boy" on December 3, was forced into inactivity by lack of suitable space for rehearsal, storage and preparation of scenery, and presentation. A black future faces this group, long an appreciated feature of University life. At present, no stage or radio presentations are planned.

CAGE-COURT OPENER

The smoothly-running Colonial court machine opened its season in the customary way by trouncing Baltimore University at Tech High on December 15.

Due largely to the efforts of Butterworth, Faris, and Garber, the Buff and Blue led from start (0-0) to finish (43-26).

UNIVERSITY PROMENADES

The All-University Prom, held December 17 in the Willard Ballroom, was the first major social function ever held here which was open to all students of the University without regard to Greek or other affiliations. Feature of the evening was the Grand March, participated in by the presidents of a hundred and a quarter campus organizations, and their respective dates. Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary activities fraternity, tapped thirteen outstanding Juniors during the intermission pause in Joe Haymes' music. A percentage of the profits was devoted to the annual Food Drive.

FOOD DRIVE

1937 Food Drive under the joint direction of Jane Ramseyer and Cap Gardner squeezed $554.35 from a long list of contributors, topped by Phi Sigma Kappa's $67.14, without noticeable assistance from the All-University Prom. With this as a war chest, they were able to distribute food baskets to more than 150 needy families, and one loaf of bread to the KD house.

Students participating in the distribution had the experience of witnessing in the Capital a typical cross-section of the "ill-fed, ill-clothed, ill-housed," tending to make this drive seem, as usual, one of the more useful campus activities.

TENNESSEANS TOPPLED

The University of Tennessee, highly touted member of the Southeastern Conference, was the second foe to fall before the Colonial cagers. Jumping out to a lead in the first minute, the Buffmen were never headed. Score: G. W. 47, U. T. 24.

HOLIDAY

The pause that refreshes! On December 18 weary students laid aside cumbersome books with a sigh of relief and lit out for home and unacademic activities for two weeks of Christmas vacation. All too soon New Year's found them straggling in and settling down to a period of feverish study . . . books were dusted off, pencils sharpened, resolutions made; Christmas holidays another memory.

BEETHOVEN'S NINTH

Combined University Glee Clubs climaxed a successful season under the leadership of Dr. Robert Harmon by participating with the Washington Choral Society and the National Symphony Orchestra in presenting, under the baton of Hans Kindler, Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. Presented December 19 in Constitution Hall, this work was received enthusiastically by a large and appreciative audience.

GOPHERS GO

The University of Minnesota five, co-champions of the Big Ten, swaggered into Washington New Year's Day with six victories under the belt and the idea of taking the Colonials in stride, and staggered out on the short end of a 35-27 score. Butterworth was again the star, while 5,000 fans jammed Tech Gym for the conflict.

OHIO FALLS

On January 3 the high-flying Colonial basketeers, meeting their second Big Ten foe in three days, drubbed the Ohio State five, 46-35. Scoring almost at will, the Buff team consisted of subs most of the game.

GOATS GAMBOL

January 18, the goats of all the lodges took over the Raleigh Hotel for their annual prom. Feature of the evening was the Grand March led by Council President Cal Courtney and Jule Wilson, with Justina Brown and Bill Wright, Social Chairman, in the place position. Music was furnished by the Baltimore Townsmen, and the small but select attendance had a gay time; a much better time indeed than those unfortunate pledges who did not attend, but pocketed the deficit.

FROSH FORUM

Eugene Lerner succeeded where others had failed and the Freshman

Club, on January 12, brought to the University Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who spoke on "The Function of the University in a Democracy." Corcoran 10 was filled to capacity and many more stood outside in the rain to catch a glimpse of the First Lady.

A month later the club sponsored a debate between representatives of the Chinese and Japanese Embassies on the Far Eastern situation, the first debate of its kind in diplomatic history. This forum was also well attended by students and faculty.

Later forums featured such nationally known figures as Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, Wisconsin's Senator Bob La Follette, Texas' Representative Maury Maverick.

OUCH!

The first Colonial road trip could hardly be called a success, for playing in a band-box gym, the Buffs dropped their first game of the season to Long Island's Blackbirds, 25-35. The game, played January 19, was the last for the Colonials until after mid-year exams.

MENTAL ANGUISH

Light bills go up; the coffee market booms; sleep becomes a thing to be vaguely remembered—even longed for. Regrets for skipping work earlier in the semester are profuse. Groans, moans, curses, rumbling expressions of fear and distress add fuel to the fire of doubt and anxiety that blazes high within your bursting mind. Resolutions for new leaves by the score are turned over, in most cases to come up blank. Finals are upon us!

MONUMENT

The University Building Committee laid plans for the construction, at 21st and G Streets, of the long-planned, much-needed Hall of Government. The structure, ready for occupancy in June, will stand as another tribute to the generosity of University benefactor Hattie M. Strong, already donor of the dorm which bears her name.

ELON NEXT

Elon University was the next victim of the unstoppable G. W. cagers. The Elonites never had a chance, finally succumbing, 46-29. The proceeds of this game were turned over to the President's Birthday Celebration Committee for use in the fight against infantile paralysis.

REGISTRATION AGAIN

Mid-term registration, February 2 and 3, has just enough of the first semester's bad points to make the student think, "Isn't this where I came in?" and to wonder why he didn't remember all of the details. Anyway, meeting difficult situations is supposed to develop character. Think how much of that a Senior must have, just from enrolling in school at least eight times.

PLEASURE TRIP

On February 3, the Colonials opened a disastrous road trip in Detroit by defeating the Wayne University five, 38-35. The disaster came the next day when they lost to Chicago's Loyola, 45-47, and on February 7, when Toledo University dropped them, 57-43. The trip was a social success, however.

THOROUGHLY MIXED

With upperclassmen unobtrusively seeping through back doors and windows of the Student Club, February Freshmen mixed to the sweet and hot music of Leon Brusiloff. The walls were decorated with their representatives, as Greek letter groups took advantage of an unexcelled opportunity to slip over a little undercover rushing.

Unauthorized presence of older students, originally viewed with alarm, eventually had an extremely desirable effect. After all, no matter how thoroughly you mix Freshmen, you still have Freshmen.

THREE IN A ROW

The Buffs hit opening-day stride again on February 9, when they defeated Westminster in the Tech High gym, 41-26; on February 12, when they walloped Wayne a second time, 40-29; and again on February 18, when they journeyed to the big town and took St. Johns of New York, 44-41.

BABY PAN-HELLERS

Modeled after its male counterpart, the Interfraternity Pledge Council, the Junior Pan-Hellenic Council this year was reorganized for the first time in six years. Under its auspices, the Junior Pan-Hel Prom, February 11, at the Kennedy-Warren, was one of the successes of the season, due to the enthusiasm of its sponsors and the music of Carleton Edwards. An intersorority goat show presented an opportunity for banishment of Pan-Hellenic rivalries in an atmosphere of hilarious gaiety.

TRANSIT PUSHERS' NIGHT OUT

Engineering students' annual bid for social fame, the Engineer Ball, held this year on February 18 at the Kennedy-Warren, presented a spectacle of transformation as the normally serious-minded book pounders donned their party pants and trucked their lasses on down to the limpid strains of Dave McWilliams' orchestra.

As well as being a real social occasion, this affair stands out in a sorry world, proof to us students of human nature that there is a lighter side to the most serious-minded.

PATRON'S BIRTHDAY

Winter Convocation, February 22, saw 300 certificates and diplomas presented to University students.

Psychiatry Professor William Alanson White gave the principal address; President Marvin presented the traditional charge to the graduating class.

Feature of the occasion was the reception of Phi Beta Kappa representatives from all over the country in connection with installation of the University's District of Columbia Alpha Chapter of that order.

Students and Phi Bates were welcomed by Dean Elmer Louis Kayser, while the invocation was pronounced by Rev. Joseph S. Loughran. Award of Phi Beta Kappa charter to the University, obtained largely through the long-time efforts of the faculty's Phi Bate George Henning, represents national recognition of the University's success in its campaign to raise academic standards. Students, to be eligible, must maintain a 3.5 average and a record marked by character, general promise, and scholarly ideals.

CLASS SYSTEM

Social climax of the two-year campaign for re-establishment of the University's class system was the Freshman-Sophomore Prom at the Washington, February 25. Last year's Freshman Club, now promoted, and its protege and successor, the present Frosh group, have carried on this year a season of activity unparalleled since the class system disappeared in 1933.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of four outstanding members of the Sophomore Class.

NOVICES

There is no war in Asia, merely an "incident;" and among the campus Greek lodges this year, the traditional Hell Week was replaced by a euphemistic "Probationary Period." The net result was similar. A long and desolate period of pledgeship approached and passed its climax, leaving some hundred dazed ex-goats basking in the favor of their new-found brothers, their pride-swelled breasts supplying temporary resting places for a similar number of variegated jeweled pins, to be proudly worn and casually displayed on sweater and vest until superior claims had been established, and they were transferred to fairer wearers.

MORTAR BOARD

Senior women in activities were given a new honor on February 26, when the University's sixteen-year-old Hour Glass Society was inducted as the fifty-ninth chapter of Mortar Board, national honorary society for women. Nine active members and twenty alumnae were initiated at the induction ceremony.

INTERFRATERNITY PROM

Highlight of the Greek letter social season, the Interfraternity Prom, held this year on March 4, featured Russ Morgan's vocal-packed, pace-changing music, as campus Greeks trundled their daz- zlingly-raimented partners around the Willard floor. A Grand March of Interfraternity leaders meandered around the ballroom, and Gate and Key, honorary activities fraternity, seized the occasion to tap 25 new members. Awards were presented to the winners in the interfraternity intramurals, and a cup to the most valuable basketball player of the year.

FAIREST COLONIAL

Esquire's Gilbert Bundy, chosen this year to pick three from among the flock of campus entrants as the winner of the CHERRY TREE's Beauty Contest, gracefully and well discharged a task unenviable in the extreme. Or don't you think so?

GRAND SLAM

Bridge tournament on March 5, Pan-Hellenic innovation, contributed to the breakdown of academic morale by placing a premium on inactivity, rewarding those girls who spend spare hours around Student Club tables rather than in Library and classrooms.

Pointing no fingers, be it recorded that Kappa Delta won.

RECREATION NIGHT

A spirit of friendly competition marked Recreation Night, held in the University gym on March 25. The event was sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association to give the students an opportunity to get together to play badminton, shuffle-board, ping-pong and other games. The square dance afterwards was the highlight of the evening. The participants couldn't do the steps well, but novices always have more fun than veterans.

AND SO TO PRESS

This year's CHERRY TREE, like all its worthy predecessors since the dawn of time and the academic system, began its season on good intentions and ended up in a double dose of chaos.

The placid and unsuspecting staff, having been snuck up on and sandbagged by the deadline into the realization that this issue couldn't possibly come out, was jerked panic-stricken into a frantic scramble for data, pictures and copy.

GREEK GALS' GALA

Spring really came to the campus a trifle late. About a week behind the much-ballyhooed cherry blossoms, the Pan-Hel Prom, packed with pulchritude and displaying the cream of the couturier's craft, ushered in the vernal season with a bang.

Staged by and for the sororities, the Prom gave the girls among the Greeks a real night out, furnishing the hard-to-beat combination of a spring night, Don Bestor's smooth-flowing music, and dates of their own choosing.

Awarded during intermission were the trophies for inter-sorority intramurals, while Delphi entered into the spirit of the festivities by tapping eight outstanding sorority women.

VACATION ON THE AVENUE

April 15-20, rest treatment for the University's spring-fever epidemic. Easter vacation means traditionally clothes, church, rest. To lesson-heckled students, it means quit study. Occasional textbooks packed into overnight bags are gestures to man's inherent belief that he is fundamentally a conscientious individual.

POINT COUNTERPOINT

Spring campus elections are typically characterized by line-up of Greek letter organizations into the two political parties. This year's varied only in the trend, noticeable for several years, toward formation of a strong minority Independent Party. Success of non-Greek students in this direction will eventually change not only the party-line divisions, but the character of campaigns, now mainly devoted to mutual recriminations. Typical tactics include about ninety percent pointing with scorn, five percent pointing with pride, and five percent miscellaneous pointing. Campaign literature and speeches are absolutely interchangeable, requiring only alteration of names and party designations.

SPRING FEVER

Attendance in classes falls off. A great exodus from Washington over week-ends reveals that Spring is here. Each year it brings new romances and heart throbs. Dan Cupid is busy tossing his little darts into the air, disrupting the easy normal flow of life. The Student Club is deserted for pleasanter spots such as Rock Creek Park or the Tidal Basin and Cherry Trees. The few who do attend classes are living pictures of Vogue and Esquire. The whole atmosphere changes from one of study and seriousness to one of frivolity and impishness. The truth of the saying, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," is clearly portrayed on the campus.

CLIMAX

Spring might herald the twittering of birds and romances for the lads and lassies around campus, but it also brings those dreaded ogres commonly known as finals. Many a hard decision has had to be made between cramming for an exam or breezing off in an open coupe for the rolling hills of Maryland or Virginia. But in life one must learn to take the bitter with the sweet. Finally, with the last thought wrung from a dry memory, the last exam is finished and we are off for a care-free summer.

SENIOR WEEK

The Alumni Association entertained the graduating class with a reception and dance Saturday, June 4. A holiday spirit held sway that evening in the Mayflower Hotel, with each departing student wearing the traditional red rose and dancing to the strains of a rhythm orchestra.

Sunday evening, June 5, more dignified than ever in caps and gowns, the class met in the Washington Cathedral for the impressive Baccalaureate Sermon.

Each Senior will cherish the memory of President and Mrs. Marvin's reception and tea, held Monday afternoon from 4 to 7 at the Washington Club. There was music, dancing, refreshments, and friendly tete-a-tetes. Parents and visiting friends were invited to the party.

Class Night, held Tuesday evening, was the last informal gathering of the graduates. The University grounds were gaily decorated with lights for the occasion. Honors and prizes were awarded to the outstanding members of the Senior Class. Addresses were given; the Glee Clubs and Band furnished the music.

Wednesday, June 8, Convocation, in Constitution Hall at 8 p.m. Again donned in caps and gowns, the Seniors filed onto the stage to receive that hard-won diploma. With sheepskins held in firm hands, they were ready to take their place in the world.
